WE SELL FOR PROMPT CASH ONLY.—Our goods are marked at a rate of profit usual on wholesale transactions. We keep no books. Our scale of charges is regulated exclusively for customers who, NOT requiring CREDIT themselves, are disinclined to pay for those who DO require credit, and for others who do not pay at all.
FARMER and COMPANY.

DRESS FABRICS.
There is a never-ending variety of materials constantly to be seen in our Dress Department. To give good value, value that we believe cannot be approached elsewhere in the city, is our constant study. This week we show a nice assortment of superior Scotch Wincey, 30 inches wide, at 6½d per yard. A good range of colourings in Russel cord at 10d; some charming French wool poplines at 12d; a large variety of homespun serges, beiges, venetians, and sergerettes, from 14d to 18½d; and about 250 pieces of French Wool Beige, comprising new shades in navy, garnet, gendarme, ruby, prune, marone, brown, heather, &c., at 12½d. All strictly wholesale quotations for prompt net cash.
FARMER'S.

SHEETINGS.
All sorts, and every price you can name. Our stock now numbers some 2000 (two thousand) pieces all told. You may guess there's plenty of variety in a stock of such magnitude. You are not obliged to put up with an indifferent selection when you come to purchase. Is it cotton or linen, you can see every width and every quality you want. We don't care to say too much about the value; we would rather by far let buyers come and judge for themselves. But this much we will say, that in our position as the largest buyers of GOOD SHEETINGS in Australia, we get many advantages over small buyers. These go directly to our customers. They increase our return and benefit us in that way, which quite satisfies us. The specialities to inquire for this week are the 72-inch Croydon Sheeting at 11½d, and the 90-inch Imperial at 16½d. See them.
FARMER and CO.

TOWELS.
Important items these in every household. The expense of a dozen of the best towels is not large, but look how quickly they wear out. Compare the money spent in towels with your other expenditure in any single item of household drapery, and the amount will surprise you. There are glass towels, roller towels, kitchen towels, bath towels, rubber towels, bedroom towels, of huckaback, of diaper, of linen, of cotton, Turkish towels, Brighton towels, babies' towels, and other towels innumerable that must be provided. Well how to do it, and how to do it economically, and to the best advantage, are points to be studied. Take our advice; don't buy towels on credit, if you can pay ready money. And don't buy rubbish at 1s 11d, 2s 11d per dozen, or any such price. You might just as well throw your money away. We don't ask you to buy from us if you can spend your money to better advantage elsewhere. But before you purchase just look through our stock of 20,000 (twenty thousand) dozen, commencing 6s 9d per dozen, and rising up to 45s. All wholesale prices for prompt cash. FARMER and CO.

QUILTS, ONE GUINEA EACH.—
Most ladies know by this time where to buy their Blankets. Our GUINEA BLANKETS, like our GUINEA LONGCLOTHS, are now as familiar as household words. We advertised the guinea blankets as unmatched anywhere in the city at 26s 6d, and the experience of most buyers has uniformly confirmed our statement. So with our Guinea Longcloths. We know very well that to endeavour to match them at 25s would be to court disappointment, and to entail loss of time, and we made known our opinion to the public. We have now a shipment of Quilts to announce, and would ask the attention of all housewives desirous of saving a few shillings on each article. We have good useful coloured Quilts at 3s 11d, strong white Quilts at 5s 9d and 6s 11d, a grand assortment of Marcella, Toilet, Repp, Reversible, Belgian, Terry, Lace, and fancy Quilts; but our chief speciality is our own registered Toilet Quilt, 3 yards by 2½ yards, price One Guinea, unmatched anywhere. Prompt cash only. FARMER and COMPANY.

FLANNELS.
Many ladies will remember our Flannels of last winter season, the splendid value given, and the great satisfaction experienced in their wear. Our stock for the present season is both larger and better assorted than ever, and contains many items of quite exceptional value. We are showing a magnificent REAL WELSH FLANNEL, at 2s per yard, that we are certain cannot be purchased elsewhere in Sydney under 2s 9d—go where you will. We have also a special parcel of unshrinkable all-wool Crimean Flannels, at 18½d a yard, that are a perfect wonder in point of value. Patterns free to country customers. Our quotations are for prompt cash only.
FARMER and COMPANY.

OLD FASHIONS REPRODUCED.—MUFFS.
We have before us an engraving of the figure of an English lady of quality with a small muff pendant to her girdle. Temp. 1585. M. Quicherat testifies to their being a novel object in France in the reign of Henri Trois, 1574—1588. And Planché tells us the early muffs were made of satin and velvet lined with fur, and appeared almost simultaneously in England. Later on, in No. 16 of the Spectator, the writer informs the public that he has received a letter desiring him to be very satirical upon the little muff now in fashion. Well, we have some of these little muffs, exact reproductions of the old time articles, looking, beside much of the present fashion finery, quaint and odd, but perfect little gems nevertheless. Some are of satin curiously quilted, enriched with a delicate artificial rose; some of velvet, ornamented with wallflower, or jessamine, or pansey; others of plush, with bows of ribbon here and there. In some, purses have been introduced, combining utility with ornamentation. All are novel. And the prices are 10s 6d, 13s 6d, 14s 6d, and so on to 21s; prompt cash only. FARMER and COMPANY.

FARMER'S GUINEA BLANKETS.
These excellent goods, which in weight, size, and quality of wool surpass any blanket that can be purchased in the city of Sydney at 26s 6d, are now to hand in full assortment. Many customers who have inspected these goods, and with commendable economy seeking to spend their money to the best advantage, have visited other city stores in search of better value, have returned to us to purchase, endorsing without reserve our statement as above, viz., that our Guinea Blankets are unequalled anywhere at 26s 6d. But we sell at wholesale prices for prompt cash, and thus save the retailer's profit to all who patronise us.
FARMER and COMPANY.

FARMER and COMPANY.

We hold the largest stock in Sydney of Austrian Chairs, Rockers, Sofas, Couches, Sofa Bedsteads, &c., all marked at the lowest cash prices. FARMER and COMPANY.

BEDSTEADS.
A most comprehensive assortment, including every style and price required for furnishing any description of residence. We purposely avoid keeping common bedsteads, preferring to be able to guarantee everyone we sell to stand fair hard wear. We commence our half-testers at 26s 6d; and have every quality and style from that price up to twenty-one guineas. We show specialities in full size Black and Gold Half Tester Bedsteads, with solid brass mountings, very elegant designs, at 5 guineas, which we believe are not to be matched in the city under £6 15s. Then we have the largest stock of SPRING MATTRESSES out of London, both English, American, German, and Colonial made goods. Our prices are strictly wholesale, as we sell for ready-money only.
FARMER and CO.

Each curtain is indeed a study; price 21s per pair. Also, handsome Nottingham Lace Curtains, beautifully drawn patterns, in the conventionalised foliage of the early English period, 10s 6d, 12s 6d, 14s 6d, 16s 6d, up to 63s per pair. Most marvellous purchase. The entire stock of a Birmingham Juvenile Clothier in the wholesale business. The assortment includes a variety of shapes in all-wool tweeds and serges, suitable for boys from 3½ to 10 years of age. Some of the suits are neatly, others elaborately braided, some quite plain. There is not a single suit in the assortment that has ever been sold under 12s 6d in Sydney, and most of them would readily realise from 15s to 21s. Exhibition of samples is now being made in our outfitting window. There are about 1500 in the entire purchase, but the value is such that a few weeks will run them out. Early selection is [illegible] in order to prevent disappointment.

The Treasury, New South Wales, June 17, 1881.
TO MEDICAL MEN, CLERGYMEN, MAGISTRATES, HOUSEHOLDERS, and OTHERS.
The Government, with a view to the adoption of all necessary precautions for the arrest of the spread of the disease known as the Small-pox, consider it desirable to obtain, at the earliest possible date, reliable information of all cases of sickness of a doubtful or suspicious character which may exist or occur in the city and suburbs.
Medical men, clergymen, magistrates, householders, and others throughout the city and suburbs, are therefore requested to furnish information of the nature required to the Health Officer, the Inspector-General of Police, to any member of the Police Force, or to any official person, for the purpose of being communicated to the Government.

STEAM-TUG FOR PORT MACQUARIE AND CAMDEN HAVEN.

FRESH TENDERS will be received at this office up to noon of Tuesday, the 12th instant, from persons desirous of supplying and maintaining an efficient Steam-tug for use at Port Macquarie and Camden Haven, on the basis of an annual subsidy from the Government, and with the right reserved to the tenderer to charge shipping for the use of the tug at rates not exceeding 8d. per registered ton, both in and out, with a minimum of £3.
The vessel must be of not less than 20-horse power, and thoroughly fitted, in the opinion of the Marine Board, for the service required, which must be commenced within one week from date of notification of acceptance of tender.
Tenderers will state the amount of subsidy (over and above the towage rates) they will accept for the service.
No tender will be entertained unless accompanied by a certificate from two responsible persons, stating that they are willing to become bound as sureties in the penal sum of £150 for the due performance of the service, under conditions which may be seen at the office of the Marine Board.
The Government reserves the right to cancel the contract upon giving seven days' notice in the event of any departure from the conditions.
The necessary stamp duty—i.e., one shilling upon the tender, and one pound upon the bond—must be borne by the contractor.
In the case of the accepted tender, the contractor and his sureties must severally call at the Treasury, to execute and deliver the bond within fourteen days after date of acceptance, failing which the contract may either be advertised anew, or another tender accepted.
It is to be distinctly understood that the Government will not necessarily accept the lowest or any tender.

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6.

The PRESIDENT took the chair at 3.30 p.m.

ADDRESS IN REPLY.

Sir GEORGE INNES moved,—"That the House do now proceed to Government House, there to present to his Excellency the Governor the address in reply to the speech delivered by his Excellency at the opening of both Houses of Parliament."

The motion was agreed to.

The members then proceeded to Government House, and on their return the PRESIDENT read the following reply which his Excellency had given:—

"Mr. President and Hon. Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,—It is with feelings of great satisfaction that I receive your address, and the renewed assurance of your deep and unfeigned attachment to her Most Gracious Majesty's throne and person. It is gratifying to me to be assured that the important measures to which your attention is invited will receive your careful consideration, and I trust that your labours, guided by your patriotic zeal for the national interests, will conduce to the general welfare and prosperity of the country and to the happiness of all classes of the community. Government House, Sydney, 6th July, 1881."

SESSIONAL ORDERS.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON moved the adoption of the following sessional orders:—"That the Standing Orders Committee for the present session consist of the following members, viz.:—The President, Mr. John Campbell, Sir Alfred Stephen, Mr. Darley, Mr. Docker, Mr. Marks, Mr. Holt, Sir George Innes, Mr. Suttor, and the mover, with leave to sit during any adjournment, and authority to confer upon subjects of mutual concernment with any committee appointed for similar purposes by the Legislative Assembly." "That the Library Committee of this House for the present session consist of the following members, viz.:—The President, Sir Alfred Stephen, Mr. Macleay, Mr. Charles Campbell, Mr. Holt, Mr. Norton, Mr. Piddington, Professor Smith, Mr. Docker, and the mover, with leave to sit during any adjournment, and authority to act jointly with the Library Committee of the Legislative Assembly, in accordance with the Resolution of 7th August, 1862." "That the Printing Committee for the present session consist of the following members, viz.:—Mr. Docker, Mr. Henry Moore, Mr. Darley, Mr. Charles Campbell, Mr. Thornton, Mr. Flood, Mr. Lucas, and the mover, with the duties and powers conferred upon a similar committee appointed in the session of 1862." "That a Refreshment Room Committee be appointed for the present session, to consist of the following members, viz.:—Mr. Gordon, Mr. White, Mr. Henry Moore, Mr. Docker, Mr. Busby, Mr. Alexander Campbell, Mr. Lord, Mr. Higgins, Mr. Thornton, and the mover, with leave to sit during any adjournment, and authority to act in matters of mutual concernment with any committee appointed for similar purposes by the Legislative Assembly. "That unless otherwise ordered, this House will meet for the dispatch of business at 4 o'clock p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday in each week." "That on Wednesday in each week Government business take precedence of general business." "That the order respecting the transmission of messages agreed to by the two Houses during the session of 1856-7 stand as a sessional order of this House for the present session." "That whenever the Council may be adjourned from want of a quorum to the next sitting day, and the same shall prove to be a general holiday, thanksgiving, or fast day, proclaimed by the authority of the Government, then the Council shall stand adjourned to the next succeeding sitting day." "That whenever this House is counted out for want of a quorum, the proper officer shall record the names of the members then present."

The motions were agreed to.

CHAIRMANSHIP OF COMMITTEES.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON moved,—"That the Hon. Joseph Docker be Chairman of Committees of the whole House during the present session, and until a fresh appointment be made in the next session of Parliament." He had great pleasure in making this motion. Mr. Docker's position in the country, his great experience, and the manner in which he had discharged his duties, fitted him for the position of Chairman of Committees.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. DOCKER thanked the Council for the honour they had done him in calling upon him to take the honourable position of Chairman of Committees. He had not expected on this occasion that the Vice-President of the Executive Council would have taken the opportunity of speaking in such high terms of the slight services which he had rendered. The only test of the fitness of a man for this position was the manner in which he had performed his duties. He would, therefore, say nothing more than that he would devote the best of his abilities to the performance of the duties of the office, and he trusted that in doing so he would have the approbation of every hon. member. (Hear, hear).

ADJOURNMENT.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON moved the adjournment of the House.

Mr. MARKS suggested that the House should adjourn till that day week, as there was no business to proceed with.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON adopted the suggestion, and it was resolved that the House at its rising should adjourn until Wednesday next.

Mr. MACLEAY said he would take this opportunity of referring to a subject of pressing importance. He had given notice of his intention of asking the Vice-President of the Executive Council,—"1. What progress has been made with the railway extension from Narrandera to Hay? 2. Is it contemplated to open any extension of the line in time for the coming wool season? 3. If so, where and when?" Sir John Robertson had intimated that he would not be prepared to answer those questions until the next sitting day, but the matter was too important to be delayed. Parliament had sanctioned the construction of a line of railway from Narrandera to Hay. He had found within the last few days that the money was being expended in such a way as to render the line as little useful as possible. He had seen a paragraph in the papers to the effect that the line was to be opened to Darlington Point, but the manager of a station at the Murrumbidgee in which he was interested had informed him that the railway-station would be some ten or twelve miles distant from Darlington Point. He had waited upon Mr. Goodchap and other officers of the railway department without being able to get any definite information, and hence he had given notice of the questions to which he had referred. He had fully intended this season to bring his wool to Sydney; but if the railway was carried 10 or 12 miles away from Darlington Point into the plains it would be simply impossible for him to do so, and he had therefore been compelled to make arrangements for sending the wool to Melbourne. From the station he had referred to he had about 1200 bales, and very probably there were some of his neighbours in a similar position, and the whole of that wool would have to go to Melbourne. He therefore hoped that this question would receive the prompt attention of the Ministry.

Mr. DE SALIS said that as the House had listened patiently to his hon. friend on a local question he would be listened to for a few minutes on a national question. He had given notice of his intention to ask the Vice-President of the Executive Council,—"Have the Government been in communication either with the Government of China, that they consent to our proposed policy against the free admission of Chinese, or with the English Government that they approve of our intended policy?" The two telegrams which had been published in that morning's Herald showed that the Government had not taken any such action. He hoped that in dealing with the Chinese question the Government would not take any violent course in opposition to England, or insulting to the Government of China; but that they would adopt a more prudent policy. In support of his views upon that point he quoted at considerable length from a pamphlet written by Mr. Preston upon the Chinese question.

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON did not agree with Mr. De Salis that he was equally as justified as Mr. Macleay in bringing his subject before the House. The Chinese question could wait for a week, but the matter to which Mr. Macleay referred was urgent. He agreed with Mr. Macleay that it was intended to take the railway to Darlington Point, and he had been informed that the railway would be opened to that locality on the 1st September. This was certainly a matter which should receive the immediate attention of the Minister for Public Works. (Hear, hear.)

The Council then adjourned to 4 p.m. on Wednesday next.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6.

The SPEAKER took the chair at 21 minutes to 4 o'clock.

THE ADDRESS IN REPLY.

On the motion of Sir HENRY PARKES, hon. members proceeded to Government House, to present the address in reply to his Excellency's speech on the opening of Parliament. On their return to the Chamber—

Mr. SPEAKER reported that the address had been presented to his Excellency, who had been pleased to make the following reply:—

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly, —It is with feelings of great satisfaction that I receive your address, and the renewed assurances of your deep and unfeigned attachment to her most Gracious Majesty's Throne and Person. It is gratifying to me to be assured that the important measures to which your attention is invited will receive your careful consideration, and I trust that your labours, guided by your patriotic zeal for the national interests, will conduce to the general welfare and prosperity of the country, and to the happiness of all classes of the community.—Government House, Sydney, 6th July, 1881."

VALE OF CLWYDD INCORPORATION BILL.

Mr. W. J. FOSTER presented a petition signed by the promoters of the Vale of Clwydd Coal Mining and Copper Smelting Company, limited, praying that leave be given to proceed with the bill introduced last session.

The petition was received and the bill being introduced was read a first time, and on the motion of Mr. FOSTER it was referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Burns, Fremlin, Garrard, Martin, Cass, Terry, Withers, and the mover, for consideration and report.

PAPERS AND DOCUMENTS.

Mr. WISDOM laid upon the table the report of the Comptroller-General of Prisons for 1880; also annual returns under the District Courts Act of 1858; correspondence, &c., relative to the establishment of a Court of Petty Sessions at Windeyer; and a return to an order of the House relative to the County Court Bill prepared by Judge Forbes, together with correspondence from the District Court Judges with reference to increased jurisdiction.

Mr. LACKEY laid upon the table a return relative to the first consignment of cattle and sheep sent by rail from Wagga Wagga, Junee, or Cootamundra, to Sydney; also letters and minutes on the subject of Mr. Mason's application for leave of absence for 12 months, and a return relative to trial surveys for railways throughout the colony, the progress made, and the amount of money expended on each line.

Mr. SUTTOR laid upon the table the report of the Postmaster-General for 1880.

Sir HENRY PARKES laid upon the table a return in reference to the transfer to the Registrar-General's office of certain records of births, marriages, and deaths.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. FARNELL moved,—"That Angus Cameron, Esq., be Chairman of Committees of the Whole House during the present session." He did not think the motion required many remarks, as he believed the hon. gentleman had performed his duties to the satisfaction of the House for several sessions. Hon. members had had an opportunity of observing the conduct of Mr. Cameron in the chair; and from what he had observed, there appeared to be a general impression that he had performed his duties with ability and impartiality. There was only one thing he wished to say, and to which he desired to call the attention of the Government. He had been of opinion for a long time that the salary of the Chairman of Committees was far too low for the onerous duties he was called upon to perform. He had to keep late hours, and whether the House was in committee or not he was obliged to be present, and therefore he did not think the salary of £500 per year sufficient. In the colony of Victoria the salary he believed was £800 a year.

Mr. BADGERY seconded the motion. He thought that Mr. Cameron, in the discharge of his duties, had shown more than ordinary ability, and his decisions had been characterized, he believed, by strict justice. He did not think they would be able to find a gentleman more qualified to fill the position than Mr. Cameron.

Sir HENRY PARKES said, on behalf of the Government, that he would be glad to see Mr. Cameron elected to the important office for which he was so well fitted. He had shown at all times an impartiality and a clear perception of the principles embodied in the rules of debate, and he thought the whole House would say they were perfectly satisfied with the manner in which he had performed his duties. With regard to the question of salary, he would remind the hon. member that it was for the House to say what the salaries of its officers should be, and certainly not the Government; and if the hon. member thought the salary ought to be altered, it would be open to him or any other hon. member to move in the matter.

Mr. FITZPATRICK said that as leader, or quasi-leader of that side of the House, he had much pleasure in seconding the proposition, and could only say that Mr. Cameron had, he believed, filled the position to the entire satisfaction of every member of the House.

Mr. TERRY moved, as an amendment, to strike out the word "session," with a view of inserting the word "Parliament." There was no doubt that the practice indicated in the motion had been the usual practice of that House, but he believed that in the other colonies the Chairman of Committees was elected for the whole Parliament. He accordingly moved the amendment, as he believed it would add to the dignity of the position of their Chairman of Committees.

Mr. COPELAND would vote against the amendment, not from any personal feeling against Mr. Cameron, for he was perfectly satisfied with the manner in which that gentleman had discharged his duties. But the present Chairman of Committees might not be proposed at the commencement of another Parliament, and some one might be elected in whom the House might at the time have confidence, but who might be subsequently found to be totally unfit for the position; and yet they would have no means of getting rid of him.

Mr. JACOB thought the same objection would apply to the election of Speaker, and that the amendment was a very proper one, as it was not likely that any hon. member would be elected in a haphazard manner.

Mr. FORSTER entirely concurred in the objections which had been made by Mr. Copeland, and had heard no arguments to justify the House in deviating from the practice that had been followed since responsible government first began, and from which no injurious results had been followed. A proposal had been made that the salary of the Chairman of Committees should be raised, and he would be prepared to give that question full consideration when it came on in proper form; but it seemed to him that it was the duty of the Government to propose the salary, and not to tell the House that it should do so. The Colonial Secretary seemed to forget the responsibility which he had taken on him in assuming the position he occupied. It was for the Government to propose all the salaries of the Civil Service, as well as of the officers of Parliament.

Sir HENRY PARKES might at once say that he entirely dissented from the doctrine just laid down by the hon. member, for he held that Parliament would forget its duty if it allowed the Government to regulate the salaries of its own officers. (Hear, hear).

Mr. SLATTERY said his Parliamentary experience had been very limited, but this was the first time he ever heard or read that the Parliament of the country should vote the salaries of its officers in any way, excepting upon a recommendation coming from the Crown; and, in fact, they were excluded, as far as he knew, by Parliamentary practice, from proposing any increase of salary. Hence, such a proposition could only come by message from the Crown, and in his opinion it would be most improper to place hon. members in a position to vote upon any such proposal coming in such a way.

Mr. LLOYD was surprised that so little was known as to the duties of a Government by a member like Mr. Forster, who had filled the position of Premier himself. It was well known that the Government always refused to interfere with the salaries of officers of the Parliament, they being brought down in precisely the same form as they were submitted by the President or Speaker. The principal objection he saw to the amendment was that it had been brought forward without notice.

Mr. BUCHANAN said that whatever could be done by any member of Parliament could be done by a member of the Government; and certainly if any member of Parliament could move an increase of salary it was proper for a member of the Government; and he thought, in fact, that it was infinitely more proper that such a proposition should be made by the Government than by a private member of the House. Of course he had the most perfect approval of Mr. Cameron's conduct as Chairman of Committees, and gave him his most cordial support as such; but he thought it would be better for them not to elect the Speaker or the Chairman of Committees for the whole Parliament. If they elected the Speaker for the session, they would do no dishonour to the gentleman so appointed, and he remembered that on a former occasion Sir Henry Parkes moved that Mr. Wisdom should be elected as Chairman of Committees only for the session. [Sir HENRY PARKES: The hon. member is wrong!] He thought that the amendment was not at all called for.

Mr. BURNS said that the hon. the Colonial Secretary had entirely changed front as to the responsibility of Governments to Parliament. He had heard the hon. member state on several occasions that the Government were the leaders of the House. It was said that it was for the House to take action with respect to increases of salary; but if a private member made a distinct motion to that effect, it was for the Government to advise the Governor as to whether this increase should form part of the Estimates. How, then, could the Government relieve themselves of the obligation of dealing with these increases? The Government had before now interfered with official salaries, and it only lay with the House to ratify the action or not. Now, with respect to electing the Chairman of Committees for the whole Parliament. He thought it would not be wise for hon. members to accept this amendment, though he had to acknowledge the impartiality with which the hon. member for West Sydney had performed his duties; but he hoped that the House, having been taken by surprise, would adhere to the old practice of electing the Chairman of Committees for the session only.

Mr. WISDOM said it was very undesirable that the Chairman of Committees should be subject to annual election. In all other Parliaments and in the House of Commons the Chairman was elected for the whole Parliament; so that as far as precedent was concerned there was every reason why the Chairman should be so elected. But seeing that so large a number of members of the Assembly had expressed themselves against the amendment, and in consideration of Mr. Cameron's feelings, he thought they should wait until a new Parliament assembled before carrying this view into operation. With regard to increases of salary, there was no question that the Government had the right to deal with it; but as a matter of fact, the Government for the last twenty years had not interfered with the salaries of the House. He asked his hon. friend not to press this amendment.

Mr. R. B. SMITH said it was well known that, in matters of salary relating to the duties of the Parliament of the country, the Government would not hesitate to submit to the House any increase proposed by Mr. Speaker and the President of the Legislative Council. The office of Chairman of Committees was of a judicial character, and in the adjoining colonies the officer received £800 a year. He thought the salaries of officers of this House might be assimilated to those of officers in Victoria. He thought the House would carry a resolution of that kind, and did not, therefore, see any difficulty in the matter at all.

Mr. FITZPATRICK said when the hon. member spoke about proposing Mr. Cameron as Chairman of Committees he gave his assent to the proposal; but if he had known that there was anything like this hanging to it he should have hesitated before doing so. This was an improper attempt to slip in by a side wind a thing that the House should have had notice of. It was no matter what was the practice of the other colonies; we should rather be guided by the practice of the British Parliament. It was now twenty years since this had been attempted here, when Mr. Cowper moved that the Chairman of Committees should be appointed for the whole Parliament, and Mr. Hay, now the President of the Legislative Council, moved and carried an amendment that the appointment should be from session to session. The House had ever since made it a practice to appoint the Chairman for the session only. It would make no difference to the Chairman, for he would be sure to be re-elected, unless under very exceptionable circumstances. The course taken by the Parliament in 1861 ought to be their guide. He did not now care to dwell upon the question of the salary, but it had been admitted by the Attorney-General that it was in the power of the Government to alter the salary. He had never been satisfied that they should take the Speaker's or the President's estimate of the salaries without the Government being responsible. How could the President of the Council be responsible to that House? He had always maintained that the responsibility rested with no one but the Government. He trusted that the suggestion of the Attorney-General would be accepted, and that this amendment would not be insisted upon.

Mr. W. J. FOSTER said the arguments against the amendment did not seem to him to have much weight, with the exception that the amendment had been brought forward without notice. But he asked in what other way could the matter have been brought forward. The Chairman was appointed on the first day of the session, and what opportunity was there to give notice? The other arguments seemed to him beside the question. They were told that the matter had once been brought before another House, and that they rejected it. He thought that was no argument to bring before the present House. If there had been any argument used then, it should have been brought forward now. If the amendment were pressed, he should have no other course but to support it. It would free the Chairman from any suspicion of being under the influence of the Government. It appeared to be the case in the other colonies, and it was virtually the course pursued in England. The Attorney-General had told them that they should be unanimous in appointing the Chairman. They would be so, for there was no opposition to Mr. Cameron, though some hon. members might oppose the appointment being made for the whole Parliament.

Mr. GARRETT was of opinion that it would be an advantage to the future holder of that office if it were made more permanent and better paid, but he thought this was a very inappropriate time to raise the question. He would suggest that the amendment should be withdrawn, and that a motion should be made that in future the office should be permanent during the whole of the Parliament, and that the salary should be fixed or raised according to the wish of the House. He thought this was a matter that the Government should not be allowed to initiate. All the Parliamentary officers should be altogether free from the control of the Executive. He had occupied this position during one Parliament of five sessions, and every time he had had a contest as to whether he should occupy that position or not. It had no effect upon himself in the discharge of his duties, but he believed it kept up party feeling to a warmer degree than otherwise might have been. If the matter were pressed to a division, he should have to vote against the amendment.

Mr. FARNELL, in reply, said he saw no objection to the amendment on principle. In his opinion if a gentleman was qualified to be elected for a session, he was quite qualified to be elected for the whole Parliament. He thought it might be an advantage to elect the Chairman for the whole Parliament, for then the members would be more careful in their selection. If the hon. member pressed the amendment he would have to vote for it, but he thought the hon. member ought to adopt the suggestion of the Attorney-General and of Mr. Garrett, and withdraw the amendment.

Mr. TERRY said if it was the wish of the House he was willing to withdraw the amendment.

The amendment was, by leave, withdrawn, and the original motion was agreed to.

Mr. CAMERON said he had to return his sincere thanks to hon. members for the honour they had conferred upon him by electing him Chairman of Committees of this House, and he trusted he would show by his conduct in the future, as he had tried to do in the past, that the confidence of hon. members had not been misplaced. He had always endeavoured as far as he possibly could to carry out his duties to hon. gentlemen on both sides of the House, and it was gratifying to him to hear the testimony of hon. members on both sides that he had at least partially succeeded. So long as he lived he would never forget the unvarying kindness he had received at the hands of hon. gentlemen, and he could only repeat that he would endeavour to give satisfaction as far as in him lay. (Hear, hear.)

IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT AND THE INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE.

The following are the despatches from the Secretary of State for the Colonies having reference to the late Intercolonial Conference held at Sydney, which were placed at the disposal of the Hobart Mercury by the Premier of Tasmania:—

"Downing-street, May 11, 1881.

"Sir,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch (No. 4) of the 14th of February last respecting the proceedings of the Intercolonial Conference held at Sydney.

"I have perused with much interest the records of the deliberations and resolutions of the conference, and I hope that this important meeting may eventually result in the adoption by the Legislatures of the Australasian colonies of several useful measures.

"Some of the questions considered by the conference require separate and special notice, and I shall address to you further despatches dealing severally with those points which appear to call for my observations.

"I have addressed a similar despatch to the Governors of the other colonies represented at the conference.

"I have, &c., "KIMBERLEY."

SIR ARTHUR GORDON AND THE POLYNESIANS.

"Sir,—I have had under my consideration the resolutions agreed to by the Intercolonial Conference held at Sydney in January last, with reference to the relations of British subjects with the natives of the Western Pacific Islands, and to the office and functions of the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific.

"Her Majesty's Government highly appreciate the ability and earnestness with which Sir A. Gordon has discharged the responsible duties devolving on him as the first High Commissioner. They are, nevertheless, sensible of the importance of the points raised in the resolutions, as to several of which I have for some time past been conferring with the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the views of the conference will receive full and careful consideration. "I have, &c., "KIMBERLEY."

CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

"Downing-street, May 11, 1881.

"Sir,—I have had before me the representation of the Intercolonial Conference held at Sydney in January last, on the subject of the introduction of Chinese immigrants by the Government of West Australia at the public expense.

"I am well aware of the strong objections which are entertained generally in the Australian colonies to an extensive Chinese immigration; but in the particular case of West Australia, which comprises an enormous tract of country, more than a third of which lies within the tropics, strong evidence of the injury already sustained, or likely to be sustained, by the neighbouring colonies would be necessary to justify her Majesty's Government in interfering with the arrangements sanctioned by the Legislature (two-thirds of which is elective) for the very limited immigration now proposed.

"It does not appear to be alleged that any of the Chinese hitherto introduced into West Australia have passed into the other colonies; while, on the other hand, each of those colonies already contains a much greater number of Chinese than West Australia will have after the new immigrants have arrived.

"I should not, of course, desire to see a large Chinese population introduced into West Australia; and I shall carefully watch the results of the small immigration to which my attention has been called by the conference; but under the circumstances, as at present known to me, I am not prepared to interfere with the action of the West Australian Legislature. I have, &c., "KIMBERLEY."

NAVAL AND MILITARY DEFENCES.

"Downing-street, May 11, 1881.

"Sir,—In the minutes of the proceedings of the Intercolonial Conference held at Sydney in January last, I observe a resolution on the subject of the naval and military defences of the Australian colonies and New Zealand.

"Her Majesty's Government have noticed with much satisfaction that part of the resolution which pledges the members of the conference to use all legitimate endeavours to procure the efficient fortification and land defence of the Australian ports at the cost of the colonies interested. They are, however, unable to express similar satisfaction at the suggestion that the outlay for naval defence of the Australian colonies should be increased, and at same time that it should continue to be exclusively a charge upon the Imperial Treasury.

"On this point I am glad to see that the representatives of South Australia placed on record their opinion that the colonies ought to contribute to the cost of maintaining the Australian squadron. "I have, &c., "KIMBERLEY."

THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The statements made in the Legislative Council, last night, by the Hon. W. R. Piddington, with reference to the state of the public accounts, are so peculiarly at variance with facts that I feel compelled, in justice to the present Government, and with a view to correct the erroneous impression which the hon. gentleman's remarks may have upon the unwary, to point out a few important omissions in his speech.

While the hon. gentleman stated that there was a cash balance in the bank of only £767,407 16s. 7d., and securities in the Treasury chest to the amount of £614,956 12s. 3d., or, together, a sum of £1,382,364 8s. 10d. to meet £3,519,897 8s. 2d., the amount of the Treasury balances, he omitted to state that the difference between these sums, viz., £2,137,532 19s. 4d., had been advanced to the Loan Fund, pending the sale of debentures, on account of authorized loans to the amount of over £17,000,000. And he also forgets that the overdraft in London of £580,000 will now be more than covered by the loan of £2,050,000 recently negotiated there at an average price of £103 11s. 8d. per cent., the highest price ever obtained for colonial securities.

I think the hon. gentleman also forgets that by making temporary advances to the Loan Account the Government are really saving the country 1 per cent. for interest. If the Government were very anxious to have a large balance at their credit, would it not be a very easy matter for them to negotiate a loan of five millions to secure this object? But what would the hon. gentleman say to a financial operation of that kind—one that would entail upon the country an unnecessary charge of 4 per cent. per annum for money that could not be invested either here or in London at one-half that rate?

The hon. gentleman compares the balances when he was in office with the balances as they existed on the 30th June last. In doing so, however, he forgets that when the present Government came into office, in 1878, they found that there was an accumulated surplus of close upon two and a half millions, which they invited the Legislature to appropriate. This it did, all but some £300,000, and since then the surplus or large balance which existed in Mr. Piddington's time has been gradually absorbed in public services of a most important nature. How then can the hon. member expect the balance to remain as he left it, or where would be the benefit to the country if such were the case?

Again, the hon. gentleman endeavours to show that the expenditure during the last five quarters has exceeded the revenue. In doing this he has fallen into the error of including in the expenditure payments made on account of the surplus of 1879 and previous years. If he had charged against the revenue of the last six months the expenditure during the same period, properly chargeable to it, he would have found the balance was £1,263,000, and not "the magnificent sum of £37,000" only, which the hon. member makes out. Whoever heard of a man of business ignoring the balance in hand, or the capital with which he commences the year's transactions? On the 1st January last the Government had a balance of £1,440,227 10s. 6d. at the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund. During the last six months the revenue received, inclusive of advances refunded, amounted to the sum of £3,188,153 0s. 8d., making together a credit of £4,628,380 11s. 2d. The expenditure during the same period was as follows:—£91,544 0s. 2d. for 1879 and previous year's services, £484,818 1s. 4d. for services of 1880, £195,979 6s. 10d. for services authorised out of the surplus revenue account, £1,820,336 0s. 7d. for services of 1881, and advances to be hereafter accounted for to the amount of £104,436 6s. 3d., making payments in all to the extent of £2,697,113 15s. 2d., which, deducted from the credit of £4,628,380 11s. 2d., left a balance on the 30th ultimo of £1,931,266 16s., to which has to be added £465,437 18s. 7d., amount advanced to the loans account prior to 1879 not yet repaid. This would make the actual balance still at the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund £2,396,704 14s. 7d.—a very different result from the magnificent sum of £37,000 referred to by Mr. Piddington.

I think I have clearly shown that the honorable gentleman's analysis of the public accounts is very erroneous, and that his conclusions are both fallacious and illogical.

The Tilkhurst, ship, from Middlesborough March 31 and Plymouth April 16, passed Cape Otway on Tuesday.

The Eskdale, from Liverpool, arrived at Melbourne on July 4. On June 24 she was struck by two towering seas in rapid succession, and was nearly buried by the weight and volume of water. The two afterboats and skids with gear attached, were washed overboard, and the front of the cabin was fairly forced in by the onset of the sea. The forepart of the cabin was gutted entirely, and the afterhatch was stove in, thus allowing large quantities of water to find its way below, both by the afterhatch and lazarette hatch in the cabin. After the sea had passed over the ship it was noticed that no fewer than 16 iron stanchions along the port bulwarks were started, the heads of the bolts being pulled through the palms fastening the stanchions to the waterway bar. When the pumps were sounded immediately after this visitation about six inches of water was found in the well. The water brought up by the pumps had a peculiar taste, as if mixed with chemicals or beer, and when the second sea struck the ship she took a very strong list to port, thus indicating that the cargo must have surged heavily in that direction, and that salt water must have reached the chemicals which were stowed down the after hatch. The damage to stores and sails was not ascertained, but it is believed to be heavy. When the gale took off, and more sail was being made, it was found that the upper maintopsail yard was badly sprung.

In the Import markets business was moderately active to-day, and country orders are now coming forward more freely. Some disposition was noticed to force sales of the lower brands of South Australian flour at from £11 10s. to £11 15s.; best Adelaide town brands, however, are still held for £12 to £12 10s., and New South Wales flour realises £11 10s. to £12. In teas, the new crop is now being sampled, and one parcel is to be offered at auction on Friday next. Only a small quantity of tea was quitted publicly to-day, and the business done otherwise was of an unimportant character. The prices offered for the sugars did not lead to business, not meeting the views of owners. The market shows a firm tone, particularly for the lower qualities of sugar. Hobart Town jams are dearer, being now quoted up to 7s., the market being rather barely supplied. Groceries, in almost all lines, are in full stock, and values are unchanged. Coarse salt is selling steadily at 85s. In liquors, business is noted in second-class brandies, and whisky is also freely moving off in trade lines. Lowndes' rum in hogsheads and quarters commands 4s. 2d. to 4s. 3d., and a trifle less to arrive. A good line of Townshend's tonic was placed at a concession on ordinary rates. In metals the business of the day in galvanized iron was at late rates; a parcel of Muntz metal was quitted at 7d. A sale of IC charcoal tinplates is quoted at 25s. In Messrs. Lewis and Son's English Metal Circular we observe that a sale of 1400 tons of Cobar copper was made on April 11 at £61 10s., for India and to English smelters, delivery to be spread over a year. The timber market is firm, and the shipments ex City of Sydney quitted publicly to-day by Messrs. Fraser and Co. realized as follows:—1 x 4 to 1½ x 6 architraves, 7s. 9d. to 16s.; 1 x 7 to 1 x 10 skirting, 14s. 6d. to 19s.; redwood doors, 2.8 x 6.8 x 1½, H.L.R., 2.8 x 6.8 x 1¼, L.L.R., and 2.6 x 6.6 x 1¼, 10s. 3d. to 12s; rough clear redwood, 1 inch to 6 inch, from 22s. to 23s. 3d.; mouldings, 1 x 2½, 7s. 9d.; 1 x 3, 9s.; architraves, 1¼ x 6, 16s.; 1 x 4, 7s. 6d.; Scotia, 1½ x 2, 9s. 3d.; Nose and Cove, 1¼ x 2, 7s. 6d.; 1½ x ¾ lattice, 3s. 3d.; 1¼ x 1, Scotia, 6s. 9d.; 1¼ x 1¼ corner beads, 5s. 3d.; doors, 2.6 x 6.6 x 1¼, 2.8 x 6.8 x 1½ and ¼, and 7 x 3 x 1½, 10s. to 18s. 6d. A shipment of Scotch flooring and lining boards was also sold in pieces, from 6 x ⅞ to 6 x ½, and 4 x ½, at from 14s. to 19s. 3d. On the wharfs, yesterday, there was a considerable amount of activity. The only change of any importance was that with regard to butter, which was scarce. The Butter Co-operative Company sold at 1s. 3d.; but other holders took advantage of the temporary scarcity and secured 3d. more.

Messrs. Mort and Co. held their fortnightly sale of wool to-day. There was an active demand, and all lots offered were sold. Scoured brought 17d. to 21d.; medium greasy, 8d. to 9d. per lb. No good lines of fleece were offered. Sheepskins were in full supply and very brisk demand, and a large catalogue was cleared at up to 8½d. per lb. for washed, and 5½d. to 7d. per lb. for fair to good greasy skins. Mr. John Bridge also cleared a small catalogue of wool and sheepskins at his auction room to-day.

The Sorata (s.) left to day for London, via Melbourne and Adelaide, with 1365 bags linseed, 31 casks 137 bags antimony, 49 casks 79 pipes tallow, 31 drums glycerine, 11 casks pitch, 6 casks soap, 138 casks oil, 137 bales wool, 123 bales cotton, 11 bales basils, 18 bales leather, 50 bales skins, 7375 ingots tin, 13,203 ingots 136 cakes copper, 34 cases 988 ingots nickel, 8 casks pyrites, 3262 cases meats, 41 boxes fruit, 11 cases 123 casks pearlshell, 11 packages sundries, 4 boxes silver coin valued at £2000, and 1 box sovereigns £150, shipped by the Deputy Master of the Royal Mint.

The British Trade Journal says that some agriculturists who have an interest in the Bradford trade have hit upon what is not altogether a novel expedient, with a view of bringing about an improvement in the consumption of bright-haired wools. It seems that at a recent meeting of Yorkshire farmers the best means of alleviating the present depression was discussed at length, and it was ultimately decided to appeal to the Princess of Wales to countenance by her example an effort to change the fashion in favour of the Bradford goods. Steps were accordingly taken to bring the result of the meeting under the attention of her Royal Highness, and it is stated that this effort has been so far successful that an application on her behalf has been made for samples of Bradford stuff goods.

It will be seen from a cablegram elsewhere that it is intended to reduce the Customs duties on certain articles imported into New Zealand, to amend the Property Tax Act, so as, while reducing the tax on property to a halfpenny, to bring under the provisions of the Act eleven millions of foreign capital. A quarter of a million 5 per cent. loan, to be raised in the colony, is also projected.

The South Australian loan of £1,370,000 has been successfully floated on the London market. Applications to the extent of £2,009,800 were received at an average of £102 19s. 8d. This is regarded as very satisfactory, being 19s. 8d. above the minimum fixed, and 9s. 4d. above the loan recently issued by New South Wales. All tenders at and above £102 18s. 6d. are to receive allotments.

The Customs duties received to-day were as follows:—Spirits, £3075 11s. 8d.; wine (still), £274 4s. 5d.; wine (sparkling), £15; ale, porter, and beer (in bottle), £112 10s. 9d.; tobacco and snuff, £38 12s.; tobacco (unmanufactured), £285 17s.; cigars, £76 9s. 3d.; tea, £258 11s. 8d.; opium, £70 10s.; dried fruits, £153 10s. 4d.; hops, £32s. 6d.; sarsaparilla, £7 10s.; specific duty, £492 0s. 9d.; bonding warehouse duty, £76 10s.; pilotage, £63 13s. 4d.; harbour and light dues, £26 7s. 4d.; total, £5030 1s.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

THURSDAY, JULY 7, 1881.

In the Legislative Council, yesterday,

Sir George Innes moved,—"That the House do now proceed to Government House, there to present to his Excellency the Governor the address in reply to the speech delivered by his Excellency at the opening of both Houses of Parliament."

The motion was agreed to, and the members proceeded to Government House accordingly. On their return, the President read to the House his Excellency's reply.

Sir John Robertson moved the adoption of the usual sessional orders, and the motions were agreed to.

Sir John Robertson moved the appointment of the Hon. Joseph Docker as Chairman of Committees of the whole House during the present session.

The motion was agreed to; and, Mr. Docker having thanked the Council for the honour they had done him, the House, after some remarks from Mr. Macleay and Mr. De Salis with reference to questions of which they had given notice, adjourned until 4 p.m. on Wednesday next.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

The House immediately after meeting proceeded to Government House to present to his Excellency the Governor the address in reply to the opening speech, and on its return the presentation was reported by Mr. Speaker.

On the motion of Mr. W. G. Foster, the Vale of Clwydd and Lithgow Mining Bill was referred to a select committee for inquiry and report.

Ministers laid on the table copies of papers in reference to the District Courts, the establishment of a Court of Petty Sessions at Wingen, the County Court Bill prepared by Judge Forbes, the railway traffic at Wagga Wagga, instructions for railway surveys, the application of Mr. Mason for leave of absence, the registers held by Mr. Kerrison James, the report of the Postmaster-General for 1880, and the report of the Comptroller of Prisons, and it was ordered that the documents be printed.

Mr. Farnell moved that Mr. Angus Cameron be Chairman of Committees of the Whole House during the present session, and stated that the hon. gentleman had performed the duties of the office with ability and impartiality in previous sessions. The duties of their Chairman were arduous and continuous while the House was in session, and he was of opinion that the salary should be more commensurate with the importance of the office. In Victoria the salary was £800 per year, and he thought the Government should take steps for raising it to the same amount in this colony.

Mr. Badgery seconded, and said he thought Mr. Cameron had shown more than ordinary ability in this office.

Sir Henry Parkes said the Government were glad that Mr. Cameron was again to be elected, as he had at all times displayed strict impartiality, and appeared to have given satisfaction to the Chamber. It was for the House to say what should be the salary for the office.

Mr. Terry moved, as an amendment, that the election be for the duration of the present Parliament instead of for the session only, and argued that the change would add to the dignity of the office and place its occupant above party politics, while it would, at the same time, assimilate the practice of the New South Wales Parliament to the precedents established by the Parliaments of the other colonies, in all of which the Chairman was elected for the entire Parliament.

The amendment was opposed by Mr. Copeland, Mr. W. Forster, Mr. Slattery, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Burns, and Mr. Fitzpatrick, and was supported by Mr. Jacob, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Wisdom, Mr. R. B. Smith, Mr. W. G. Foster, and Mr. Garrett, most of whom, however, advised that it be withdrawn and proposed at another time as a substantial resolution.

The amendment was at last withdrawn, and the original motion was put and agreed to unanimously, and Mr. Cameron returned thanks for his election.

Mr. Fergusson presented a petition from residents of Vegetable Creek in favour of the restriction of Chinese immigration.

The sessional orders were all agreed to, on the motion of Sir Henry Parkes.

The House adjourned at 5.41 p.m. to 4 p.m. this day (Thursday).

For the sake of obtaining a more complete basis of discussion, the abstracts of receipts and disbursements published by the Treasury for the last two quarters may be conveniently combined with those of the previous half-year, and then compared with the abstracts for the year 1879. The additional taxation imposed by the last Parliament has been in operation for the whole of the twelve months ending on the 30th of June, and by omitting the first six months of 1880, during which the alterations had not taken full effect, a fair comparison may be instituted between the two years which best show the results of the new imposts.

Correcting for the commutation payment of South Australia, so far as there are data available, we estimate the quantity of spirits consumed in 1879 at 1,070,872 gallons, and of imported wine at 147,508 gallons. At the same rate of consumption the quantity in 1880-81 should have been, according to the census return of population, and taking the mean for the year, 1,161,932 gallons of spirits and 160,053 gallons of imported wine. But that would give a revenue of £697,159 from imported and colonial spirits, and about £48,000 from imported wine, which is more by £68,000 for spirits, and by £5700 for wine, than the actual receipts reported by the Treasury. A mean population larger by 58,000 consumed, or at all events paid duty upon 22,276 gallons less of spirits, and 26,650 gallons less of imported wine during the last twelve months than the smaller mean population did in 1879. It follows either that the higher duty has checked consumption, or that the revenue has not received all it was entitled to receive, an alternative explanation which must be left for experts to determine, if any can be found possessed of sufficient information. In any case it must be admitted that an average consumption of eight gallons per annum of spirits for every family in New South Wales, or about one reputed quart bottle per week, in addition to the quantity which escapes the tax-gatherer, is quite as much as either the public health or the public morals can digest, not to mention the danger from adulteration. The smaller quantity, however, has yielded a larger revenue. The average revenue per head from spirits was 15s. 8¼d. in 1879, and 17s. in 1880-81, and from imported wine 1s. 1d. in the former year, and 1s. 1¾d. in the latter. The stamp duties have yielded £138,507 for the last twelve months, and that is less than Mr. Watson estimated even after the sliding scale for real property was rejected by Parliament. The rate of taxation from all sources was 37s. 4d. per head of mean population in 1879, and 42s. 10½d. for the last twelve months, an increase of 5s. 6½d. per head; to which stamps contributed 3s. 9d.; spirits, 1s. 3½d.; wine, nearly ½d.; and articles on which there was no increase of duty, the remaining 5½d. In other words, the rate of taxation has been increased by nearly 15 per cent., and eleven-twelfths of the increase is due to the reimposed stamp tax and to the increase of duty on spirits and imported wine.

The land revenue of the two years is in still greater contrast. The auction and other unconditional sales, as they are somewhat inaccurately termed, brought in £860,261 for 1879, and £1,112,781 for the year ending last Thursday. The deposits on conditional purchases amounted to £231,116 for the former year, and to £434,842 for the latter. The balances, instalments, and interest on conditional purchases reached £295,310 and £447,001 for the respective years; and the pastoral, mining, and timber rents, and other annual land receipts for the two years amounted respectively to £245,337 and £289,906. Altogether the land revenue was at the rate of £3 1s. 9d. per head of the whole number of our people last year, against £2 7s. 10½d. in 1879. Ten years ago, when the rate of taxation was almost precisely equal to the present rate, the total land revenue only equalled 19s. 7d. per head, and even of that proportion £235,447, or 9s. 3d. per head, came from rents, against 7s. 10d. per head for a larger area under lease now. Ten years ago the people contributed more than two pounds of taxes for every pound received from the public estate, and now they receive three pounds from the public estate for every two pounds of taxes. Ten years ago the alienation of 447,320 acres was thought a sufficient subsidy to the ordinary revenue, and only twice before had that annual rate been exceeded, the average of the previous twenty years being about one-third of that quantity. But in the two years, 1876-79, more than seven-and-a-half million acres were sold, and apparently the policy of gigantic alienation is being renewed, with the same absence of a proportionate increase of population and of settlement upon the soil. For an increase of 15 per cent. upon the taxation of 1875 the present Government have increased their land sales by 42 per cent., irrespective of the increase of interest, balances, and instalments from former sales. It does not require much wisdom to recruit an exhausted exchequer by such means. They may plead that they have only used the power vested in them by law. So much the worse for a law which leaves such power in the hands of any Ministry. They are not compelled to sell every acre for which an application may be made. Lands likely to acquire additional value by the construction of railways through or contiguous to them, and from other causes, ought to be reserved with a view to future sale at a fair price to the State, instead of being left to be scrambled for by speculators. Nor would there be such an abnormal demand for land in the great and thinly peopled pastoral districts if a reasonable tenure were given to occupiers for a definite period, and at a correspondingly higher rent. Only let the Lands Department give a full report of its operations so as to show who are the real present owners of the thirty-six million acres reported as alienated under all forms of sale and grant since the foundation of the colony, and the public will learn not only that the exchequer is far too dependent upon the proceeds of land sales, but also that the process of aggregating immense freeholds in the hands of a few families is going on in this colony on a scale of magnitude, proportionally to population, unequalled in any country and in any age, except when the sword took the place of law.

The railway receipts for 1879, as reported by the Treasury, were £976,898, and for the last twelve months £1,342,259; yet the expenditure as given in the Treasury documents was only £811,523 for the latter period against £806,558 for the former. It was not possible to earn a revenue half as large again by an increased expenditure of only £4965, and for a full report of the railway and tramway operations of the year the public must wait for the accounts of the Commissioner. The Post Office shows a loss of £124,221 in 1879, and £106,286 for the twelve months just completed, irrespective of interest on borrowed capital. The total revenue of 1879 was £4,481,665 for an expenditure of £5,456,676, including the items thrown upon the accumulated surplus, which are as legitimate a charge upon the year as those retained in the ordinary account. This is a striking instance of the manner in which the rate of expenditure has been growing of late years under the temptation of an exchequer overflowing from the proceeds of land sales. Although twice as much per head was derived from land sales in 1879 as in 1871, Mr. Watson had a total expenditure equal to £8 11s. 5d. per head for that year, and a total revenue of only £6 11s. 5½d., a difference of £2 per head, or £1,363,844 on the wrong side. How did he meet it? More than a million by the unexpended balances of former appropriations, and the rest by using up what had been arbitrarily set aside as accumulated surplus from previous land sales. For the year ended last Thursday, the expenditure was £5,456,676 and the revenue £5,891,139, which leaves a surplus of £434,463 on the year's transactions. To get this result the expenditure has fallen to the rate of £7 7s. 5¾d. per head, and the revenue has been increased by the proportions of 5s. 6½d per head from taxation, 13s. 11d. from the public estate, and 8s. 4d. from railways and other services, the latter at a corresponding increase of interest and working expenses. To put it another way, and making the same allowance for increase of population, the revenue of the last twelve months gives a proportionate increase upon the revenue of 1879 of £205,042 from taxation, £514,917 from lands, and £308,333 from services and miscellaneous receipts, or a total increase of £1,028,292. As long as a Treasurer can go on selling two acres more land for every pound he adds to the taxation he can hardly help having a surplus, however extravagant his colleagues may be.

The loan expenditure for the twelve months just completed was £1,990,342. This was met by advances from the Consolidated Revenue, now apparently designated overdrafts, to the amount of £2,194,350. There was also an overdraft of £580,303 on the London account with the Bank of New South Wales, and there was besides a long standing advance of £465,438 from the Consolidated Revenue. It would therefore seem that the General Loans Account was £3,240,091 in arrears at the date of the latest advices, so that over a million in excess of the proceeds of the debentures recently sold has been already spent in constructing the railway and other works provided for by loan. Why not appropriate these advances permanently as some compensation for the excessive land sales? It would place a great temptation out of the way of a spendthrift Ministry. The cash balance with the banks to the credit of all the Government funds has fallen to £767,408, so that the Treasurer is using a portion of trust moneys, which amounted on the 30th of June last to £819,494 in excess of the securities locked up in the Treasury chest. Small as the Government balance is, the deposits held by the banks in Sydney on the 31st of last March reached the magnificent total of £18,766,732 for only £17,219,232 of advances to borrowers—an unprecedented sign of prosperity.

For a man who has been Colonial Treasurer and had great experience of finance, Mr. Piddington was singularly unfortunate in his criticism of the revenue clause in the vice-regal speech. "When he was Treasurer," he said, "there were cash balances amounting to four millions, and now they had dwindled down to £776,000." If his being Treasurer had created the four millions it might pay to make him Treasurer again. But the real cause of the surplus was excessive land sales, as it is of the present surplus; and Mr. Piddington has not yet recanted his belief in the policy of wholesale alienation. Again, he said,—"All the securities and all the cash, both special deposits and otherwise, that the Government had amounted to only £1,382,364." But he either overlooks or ignores the advances and overdrafts on account of the Loan Funds. The railway and other works, on account of which these sums were temporarily advanced from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, have been completed, or are under construction; and if the Government cared and were empowered to sell them in the open market they would realize more than they have cost in spite of some unnecessarily extravagant items of expenditure. Are not those works a security upon which the colony may safely rely? When the loans are floated and the proceeds of the debentures come in which were authorized for these very works the advances can be recouped, as they are being already by the proceeds of the debentures, which have just commanded an unprecedentedly high price in London. A better way, in our opinion, would be to appropriate the advances permanently, because they represent excessive land sales, the proceeds of which ought to be reproductively invested, instead of being swallowed up in current expenditure. But it is a gross misrepresentation to say that the cash balance and the trust securities are all the Government have to set off against their credit balance, which amounts altogether to nearly four millions sterling. In pointing out the inordinate growth of the public expenditure Mr. Piddington was on firmer ground. The railway and postal services must necessarily grow in cost as they are extended throughout the colony, and they will become eventually self-supporting, although now involving an annual loss. But there has been an unnecessary increase of departmental machinery, and a still greater increase of local expenditure, part of which ought to be thrown upon local taxation. The new Local Government Bill may be the remedy for the latter defect, and a Civil Service Regulation Bill for the former, when a Ministry can find time and inclination to take the matter in hand.

Mr. Berry has asked for a dissolution, and has been refused. He does not appear much to have expected it, or he would not have been in such a hurry to make some appointments; but probably he thought he might as well try. He does not much trouble himself about falling with dignity, and has been far more concerned about not falling at all. During the last fortnight his conduct has created the impression that he was prepared to do almost anything to save himself. If he could have foreseen that, in spite of all his efforts, he would have to go, he might to a large extent have saved appearances. Two weeks of office were not worth purchasing at the price he has had to pay for them. He has forfeited a good deal in public estimation by his vacillation, and has shown his personal and party weakness to an extent very dangerous to his position as a leader.

It is stated that in the Ministerial memorandum the doctrine was laid down that it is for a condemned Cabinet to decide whether there shall be a dissolution or not. This is consistent with the view Mr. Berry has previously expressed, and one which he very nearly got the last Governor to accept. But it is not constitutional doctrine. The Governor is an integral part of the Constitution, and has definite rights and responsibilities, especially when Parliament and Cabinet are at issue. A Governor should be guided by the advice of his Ministers, because they enjoy the confidence of Parliament, and are responsible to Parliament. But when a Ministry has been discredited by Parliament, and when a Governor has received a formal resolution notifying him that Ministers no longer enjoy the confidence of a majority of the representatives of the people, he is then under no obligation to take anybody's advice, but is to act on his own judgment. Parliament tells him to dismiss the Ministry, and the Ministry tells him to dismiss the Parliament. The Ministry has no authority except what it derives from the Parliament, and Parliament has no authority except what it derives from the people. When the two authorities differ, therefore, and give the Governor contradictory advice, he has to look over the heads of both, and decide between them.

A Governor would not be entitled to preserve a Parliament in existence if he had good reason to believe that it ceased to represent popular opinion, seeing that such representation is the only raison d'être of its existence. In the present case, it is pretty clear that it is Mr. Berry and not the House which is out of rapport with the people. He has done his best to get the Reform Bill thrown out, and has failed, while the people wanted it passed, and rejoice that it has passed. In fact, he was only kept in office that the bill might be got through, so that he has very slender ground for claiming to be nearer to the people than the Parliament is.

The present Assembly is not a year old, and the reason for dissolving so young a House ought to be strong. It has been laid down as a general rule that the Cabinet-making power of a House should be reasonably exhausted before despairing of it. What the present Assembly can do has not been tried. Sir Bryan O'Loghlen may be unable to succeed; he may not even try; and Mr. Murray Smith may not be strong enough. But it is proper that the attempt should be made; and if it is a failure, then there may be no alternative but to refer the reconstruction of Parliament to the people, as a means of reconstructing the Ministry.

The fresh case of small-pox discovered at Druitt Town has about it nothing to excite alarm. It is no fresh centre, indicating unsuspected and underground currents of the infection. It is traceable directly to contact with the case of Won Ping. But how Won Ping caught it still remains a mystery, and the secrecy of the Chinese will not assist us in tracing the missing link. There is no proof at present that he had any connection with On Chong's child or On Chong's premises, though it is easy to believe that he had. Even if we could prove that, we have still to find out how it developed in that house, and when and how it was introduced into the colony. The account of the new case, too, is satisfactory as showing that Sue Chong, since he was connected with Won Ping, has not moved about much, even among his own countrymen, but has been pretty well isolated with the household at Druitt Town. The conduct of Laon Lee in giving information, as soon as he became aware that a case of sickness had been developed, is worthy of all praise. We presume, as a matter of course, that the Government will take all practicable steps to protect his property during the period in which he is forced into quarantine. A man who in the public interest makes known a case of infectious disease, and who, in consequence, has to be forced away from his home, should have all possible protection offered to his property in his absence. An industrious man must not be ruined because he is called upon in the public service to quit his homestead. If the Government were to adopt a harsh course it would simply tempt people to keep infectious diseases secret, and under such circumstances we should never be able to stamp a disease out. It is only by getting the earliest intimation of every fresh case that we can hope to succeed, and we certainly shall not get that if we make people feel that to tell the truth may mean ruin. Cases may arise that are difficult to deal with, and that require a good deal of discretion; but the Government must do its best to protect individuals who may get compromised by infection, as well as to protect the public.

Last year Mr. Watson said it was the intention of Government to bring in a bill to amalgamate the New South Wales Savings Bank with the Government Post Office Savings Banks. The session in which this statement was made lasted five months after that, but the promise was not redeemed. A new Parliament was elected, the same Ministry remained in power, but last session also passed away and still the savings banks remained untouched. Another session began on Tuesday, and the 10th clause of the vice-regal speech says:—"It is considered that the time has arrived for placing the savings banks of the colony on a more satisfactory foundation." Is this a redemption of the promise, or does it leave out the Savings Bank of New South Wales? The announcement is vague enough to mean anything, and until the promised measure is introduced the public mind must remain in suspense as to what the Government deem a "satisfactory foundation" for the institutions to whose keeping the people entrust their savings. According to the last quarterly statement the post-office savings banks of the colony had a balance of £737,982 in their favour, of which £385,666 had been invested in debentures and New South Wales four per cents., the remaining £352,316 being in the hands of the Treasurer. The interest he has to pay to depositors is not more than four per cent. per annum, but that is only on round sums and for clear months, so that the actual interest falls below four per cent. The New South Wales Savings Bank pays five per cent., and it held £1,410,905 to the credit of 34,689 depositors at the date of the last official report. But it lends on mortgage as well as invests in securities, and may be regarded as a rival to the ordinary banks both in lending money and in receiving deposits. Is that one reason why it is to be amalgamated with the post-office savings banks? Practically, it is now a Government institution, for it is backed up with a Parliamentary guarantee, and its directors and manager are appointed by the Governor of the colony. But if, as Mr. Watson said in 1880, the bill "would take the management out of the hands of trustees, and place it under the more immediate control of the Government," it cannot continue to lend money to private borrowers so freely as it does now. It would be a dangerous thing to have a Treasurer with money to lend in small sums to his friends, and refuse to his foes. For the rest, it would be a good thing to make the people creditors upon the State by means of their savings, for it would be equivalent to making them holders of the public securities, and, therefore, all the more interested in maintaining the public credit. For this purpose the ordinary post office savings banks should be established wherever a post office exists, savings of less than a shilling should be received, and of less than a pound should bear interest, and every other reasonable facility should be given for the profitable investment of small savings, and the encouragement of provident habits among the people.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The P. and O. Company's steamship Venetia, with the English mails via Suez to June 3, arrived at King George's Sound yesterday morning. The Sydney portion of her mails will probably reach here in time to be delivered next Wednesday morning.

The business of the Legislative Assembly, yesterday, was confined principally to the passing of the sessional orders. The only matter upon which any discussion arose was the appointment of a Chairman of Committees. Mr. Farnell moved that Mr. Angus Cameron be appointed Chairman of Committees for the present session. Mr. Terry moved an amendment that the appointment be for the Parliament, and not for the session only. Upon this a discussion arose, in the course of which it was suggested that the salary of the Chairman of Committees should be raised from £500 to £800 annually. Eventually the amendment was withdrawn, and the original motion was agreed to.

The committee of the Australian Jockey Club have arranged a day's racing in honour of the visit of the detached Squadron to our colony. The date chosen, after correspondence with Earl Clanwilliam, is Saturday, the 16th instant. In another column, and also in an advertisement, this matter will be found more fully referred to.

We understand that his Worship the Mayor of Sydney has decided to entertain the Princes and the officers of the detached Squadron at an evening dress ball, in the Exhibition building, Prince Alfred Park, and that preparations are in progress for making the event an auspicious one.

The removal of Sue Chong, the small-pox patient, and his seven countrymen, from the house at Boyd's Farm, Druitt Town, to the quarantine ground yesterday morning, was not effected as intended. The omnibus reserved for such cases proceeded to the place at a very early hour and the sick man and his companions got into it. A start was then made for Woolloomooloo Bay, where the patient and the rest of the party were to have been transferred to the quarantine steam launch Pinafore. It has been stated previously that the two horses which were used did not look as if there was any probability of their bolting at the usual furious pace of runaways. The animals employed yesterday were apparently the same pair; and very soon after starting gave unmistakable signs of an indisposition either to go too fast or too far. In fact they betrayed an unwillingness to go at all, as though their sagacity enabled them to divine the nationality of the "fares" behind; and so while the driver was endeavouring to make them proceed they broke the bar and pole of the omnibus, and the work of removal had, for the time being, to be abandoned. A messenger was despatched to Newtown, and although he applied at the establishments of several 'bus proprietors, he was unable to get a pole to replace the one which had been broken. After the loss of a considerable amount of time, the necessary materials for effecting repairs were obtained and sent out to Druitt Town. The work of removal was resumed in the afternoon, and the 'bus arrived at Cowper Wharf, Woolloomooloo, at about 7 o'clock in the evening. The steam launch Pinafore came alongside the wharf about 20 minutes later, and the eight Chinamen having embarked, it steamed away to the quarantine ground. Laon Lee, the proprietor of the gardens at Druitt Town, who had been detained in the stables at the Central Police Station, was sent to the quarantine ground by the Pinafore at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

A fortnightly meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council was held in the Town Hall, yesterday. It was resolved to adhere to the by-law authorizing the slaughter of small stock in the city, and to grant compensation in several cases for the withdrawal of properties from their present alignments. A number of other resolutions of a rather unimportant character were agreed to, particulars of which may be found in the report in another column.

At the closing of the Art Academy of New South Wales, his Honor Judge Windeyer, the Hon. Professor Smith, M.L.C., and Mr. Forde were appointed to make a presentation to Mr. Du Faur. This has been done, the present consisting of a clock, bearing the inscription:—"Presented by the members of the New South Wales Academy of Art, on the dissolution of that society, to Eccleston Du Faur, Esq., F.R.G.S., in token of their appreciation of his valuable service in acting as their honorary secretary for seven years while a member of their Council." It appears that in the second year of the existence of the late academy that society was threatened with early dissolution. The former honorary secretary having resigned, and no successor offering, Mr. Du Faur kindly tendered his services pro tem., but eventually continued to conduct its affairs, which duty involved a very considerable amount of clerical work as well as account-keeping up to the latter end of last year. On the establishment of the National Gallery in the Inner Domain—the clerical duties and accounts of which had also been undertaken by Mr. Du Faur from the commencement of that institution in Elizabeth-street—it was decided, at the ninth annual meeting of the Academy, that the parent society should be dissolved, and the final balance of its funds devoted in the recognition of Mr. Du Faur's services.

A general monthly meeting of the Royal Society of New South Wales was held last night, at the Society's Rooms, Elizabeth-street; Mr. H. C. Russell, Government Astronomer, in the chair. Several new members were introduced, after which a ballot took place, resulting in the admission to membership of the following gentlemen:—Dr. J. L. Newton, Messrs. Leopold H. Delarue, Karl W. Goergs, Lorimer E. Harcus, G. H. Knibbs, Edward H. Rennie, M.A., B.Sc., John Smedley, John Souttar, and W. H. Wesley. Two technical papers—one being preliminary notes on Smilax Glycyphylla, by C. R. A. Wright, D.Sc., and E. H. Rennie, M.A., B.Sc.; and the other on "New Zealand Kauri Gum," by E. H. Rennie, were taken as read. The Rev. Peter Macpherson, M.A., read a paper entitled "Astronomy of the Australian Aborigines;" and the chairman read a paper on "The spectrum and appearance of the recent comet." The papers elicited a considerable amount of conversation, and the authors received unanimous votes of thanks for their interesting and valuable contributions. The following donations have been received by the society since its last meeting:—From the North of England Institute of Mining and Mechanical Engineers: Transactions, vols. 26, 27, 28, and 29; Illustrations of Fossil Plants and three other works. From Editorial Committee of the Norwegian North Atlantic Expedition 1876-1878: Zoology, 1 vol. on Fishes, by Robert Collett; Chemistry, 1 vol. by Hercules Torne. From the Literary and Philosophical Society of Manchester: Proceedings, vols. 16, 17, 18, and 19; Memoirs, vol. 6. From the Naturhistorischer verein der preussischen Rheinlande und Westphalens in Bonn: Verhandlungen, 4 vols. 1878-1880. 5 volumes and pamphlets from the United States, 11 volumes and pamphlets from the United Kingdom, 27 volumes and pamphlets from the Continent, 20 volumes and pamphlets, Intercolonial. From Professor Liversidge: Congres International de Geologie vol. 21. Total donations, 93.

The members of the Christ Church Mutual Improvement Association held their annual general meeting in the Christ Church schoolroom, on Tuesday evening last, 5th instant, the president (the Rev. C. F. Garnsey) occupying the chair. After the adoption of the annual report and balance-sheet, the following office-bearers were elected for the ensuing year, viz:—Mr. S. F. Ward, vice-president; Mr. W. M. Fairland, treasurer; Mr. George Greville, secretary; Mr. S. A. Primrose, librarian; and Mr. F. E. Winchcombe, editor of the manuscript journal of the society. A programme of business for the next six months was adopted, after which the meeting terminated.

At a general meeting of the Master Butchers' Association, held at the Temperance Hall last night, under the presidency of Mr. William Tye, attention was drawn to a letter received from Mr. J. F. Whiting, of Elswick-street, Leichardt. Mr. Whiting complained that he was about to be prosecuted for conducting a boiling-down establishment, and pointed out that although he employed all the most recently invented appliances with a view to prevent any nuisance arising, it was impossible for him to carry on the trade without the residents experiencing some unpleasantness. If he were compelled to close his establishment it would simply mean utter ruin to him. During a brief discussion it was stated that if the butchers' refuse were not disposed of by the proprietors of boiling-down establishments it would necessarily be allowed to accumulate in some place, or places, and become a much greater nuisance than it was at present. The secretary was directed to write and ask the Government to stay proceedings until some decision had been arrived at as to where the work of boiling-down should be carried on.

The first consignment of Tasmanian stud sheep for Messrs. Mort and Co.'s annual sale, on the 14th instant, arrived from Launceston by the steamer Esk yesterday. It comprises 22 rams, from Mr. W. H. Gibson, of Fairfield; and 33 rams and 11 ewes, from Mr. George W. Keach, of Chiswick. The sheep are now on view at Messrs. Mort and Co.'s Wool Stores, Circular Quay.

Dr. Ross, M.L.A., of Molong, has republished a lecture which was written by him on the "Philosophy of Mind and Matter," which is intended to show the absurdity of the homœopathic system of medicine.

We have received from the author a copy of a pamphlet entitled "Startling Disclosures about the Chinese," in which an account is given of their process of immigration and system of freemasonry. It is printed by Mr. J. G. O'Connor, of Jamison-street.

Mr. Kinnear Brown has published a treatise on small-pox, showing the origin of the disease and pointing out the sanitary regulations which are necessary in connection with the recent outbreak in Sydney.

A copy of the "Geelong Grammar School Quarterly" for July has been forwarded to us. It contains the usual interesting papers dealing with the subjects of interest to the school pupils.

Yesterday afternoon a girl named Harriet Gertrude Brown, aged 10 years, while in Woolloomooloo-street, was knocked down by a horse and cart, when one of the wheels of the vehicle passed over her back. She was attended by Dr. Fortescue, who found that her spine as well as one of her arms had been injured.

A lady narrowly escaped being seriously injured, if not killed, on the railway yesterday morning. A train had arrived at Petersham, and she delayed getting out of the carriage until the engine had started. She then jumped towards the platform, but her dress got caught by a nut near the buffer. She managed to get hold of the railing of the next carriage, and clung to it until she was rescued by Mr. Penfold, J.P., and another passenger, who pulled her into the carriage. While she was in the perilous position mentioned, the woman screamed, and attracted the attention of the guard, who stopped the train. The engine was then reversed, and the train taken back about 200 yards, with a view to seeing whether anyone was injured.

On inquiry yesterday we learnt that Messrs. Alderman John Young and M'Leod, who met with an accident on the Botany Road on Monday, were progressing favourably.

A question of considerable interest was decided by the Supreme Court of Victoria on Saturday last in the action of the Queen v. Williamson. The defendants are executors of the late Mr. Charles Williamson, who died in 1875. They paid duty on part of the estate at the time probate was granted. Shortly before his death, however, Mr. Williamson had sold a station in New South Wales to Mr. C. B. Fisher, receiving payment part cash and part bills, secured by a mortgage registered in Sydney. The bills were payable in Melbourne and were held in Melbourne. On the amount represented by these bills the executors did not pay duty, as they considered that the property, being in New South Wales, was exempt. A question lately arose as to whether duty should not be paid on the amount, and the action was brought to recover it. The Court held that as the testator was domiciled in Victoria, as the bills were lodged in Melbourne and payable in Melbourne, and as the executors had obtained probate of the will here, the bills were personal property in Victoria, and as such liable to duty. There was some question as to whether the Crown was entitled to any and, if so, what interest. The jury gave interest from the 7th March, 1881, when the executors first wrote to the Crown on the subject. The Court, however, held that the Crown was entitled to interest from the 10th March, when the Master made a reply, asking for the money with interest, and the verdict will be reduced by the difference.

On the night of Saturday, the 25th ultimo, a most unusual burglary was perpetrated in Hobart (says the Mercury), and one that might have been considered as forlorn an attempt, and we may be excused if we consider it as flagrant an offence, as robbing a church. In the sacred edifice there are often valuables and occasionally money; but who would ever think of expecting any more valuable metal in a newspaper office than the lead composition of which the type is made? any more negotiable paper than a copy of the latest issue? Yet, despite the unpromising nature of the work, some misguided individual was so far left to himself as to break into the Mercury office on Saturday night, and, what is perhaps still more singular, actually secured a few shillings, though the amount was hardly adequate remuneration for the time occupied, which must have been considerable. How the burglar found admission is matter of surmise. But his chief attention was evidently directed to the business office. To it entrance was obtained by breaking a pane of glass, some time having been first given to cutting it out, and pushing back a bolt. By an oversight, another door leading in had been left open, and had the thief gone to it he would have saved time and useless destruction of property. Inside the office an attempt had been made on the safe, but with no greater success than withdrawing a screw fastening on the plate with the maker's name. Thus baffled, the private room of one of the partners was ransacked, locks wrenched off, and doors destroyed, but with nothing to reward so much persevering industry. Some drawers in the clerk's room were burst open, and a few shillings obtained from what might have been considered the safe neighbourhood of a revolver, which was not stolen nor discharged. The neighbouring building was also tried, the printing office having evidently afforded no attraction till the overseer's desk was reached. A few shillings were here obtained. The editor's room had also been looked into. Had the burglar tried the reporters' room, he would have been more successful. As it was, only one drawer was attempted. It was full of documents dealing with almost untold money, but somehow the fancy of the thief did not lie in that direction. A brief glance must have satisfied him that a drawerful of Treasurer's financial statements and estimates of revenue and expenditure was hardly worth such safe keeping. The burglar has apparently no intention of setting up as a Treasurer, for he took away nothing—was even unappreciative enough of the value of his find not to shut up the drawer.

The City Railway Extension Committee will meet at the Chamber of Commerce to-morrow morning, at half-past 10 o'clock, and form a deputation to interview the Minister of Public Works by appointment at 11.

An operatic concert is to be given at the Burwood School of Arts this evening, by Signor and Signora Fabris. They will be assisted by some of the best local talent. The programme, which will be found in another column, sufficiently indicates that an excellent entertainment may be expected.

A concert is to be given in connection with the new school, Lavender Bay, North Shore, this evening. In the afternoon there is to be a sale of gifts.

THE NEW ZEALAND TREASURER'S BUDGET SPEECH.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

WELLINGTON, Wednesday.

The Treasurer delivered his Budget speech to-night. He stated that the actual transactions in connection with the Consolidated Revenue, during the last financial year, left a surplus of £26,000. The Estimates for the current year showed a reduction of £281,000 on ordinary expenditure, and £53,000 on defences. No further taxation was necessary; but it was intended to amend the Property Tax Act, so as to render £11,000,000 of foreign capital, now exempt, liable to taxation. This will enable the property tax to be reduced to a halfpenny after the 1st September. It was also intended to reduce the Customs duties on calicoes, moleskins, cauduroys (in piece), axes, spades, &c. Exclusive of the land fund, the estimated revenue of the year was £3,297,000, and the expenditure £3,276,000. The land fund, he estimates, will yield a surplus of £118,000. Of loans, practically, £1,274,000 remained available for public works. To afford investment for small savings, it was intended to float a five per cent. quarter million loan, the interest and principal to be payable only in the colony. Inscribed stock is to be convertible into bearers' bonds of £10 and upwards, the proceeds to be devoted to public works.

THE PRINCES IN VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The Princes will proceed on to Sydney by the flagship Inconstant. She sails with the other vessels of the squadron at 1 p.m. His Excellency the Marquis of Normanby will probably visit Sydney during the stay of the Princes, if the state of public business will permit his absence from Melbourne.

An afternoon entertainment was given to-day on board the Bacchante, at which over 300 ladies and gentlemen were present. It is not probable that she will accompany the other vessels of the fleet to Sydney, pending the receipt of instructions from the Admiralty as to the repairs which she must necessarily undergo.

THE SOUTH AUSTRALIAN LOAN.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

The new loan has been successfully floated on the London market. The gross amount of the loan, which was divided into two sums, is £1,370,000. Applications to the extent of £2,009,800 were received, at an average of £102 19s. 8d. This must be regarded as extremely satisfactory, as it is 19s. 8d. above the minimum fixed, and only 9s. 4d. per £100 less than the recent New South Wales loan. This is irrespective of the date at which interest begins. All tenders at and above £102 1s. 6d. will receive allotments.

In the Assembly to-day the Treasurer made a statement respecting the new loan. He said the late Government suggested to the Agent-General that October was a good month for floating the loan, but about a month ago, when attention was drawn to the extraordinary success of the Sydney loan, they telegraphed about floating a loan in July. The Agent-General recommended that the minimum be 101, and there was some evidence that the late Government intended to fix it at ½ per cent. higher. There had also been a communication with the banks, who were willing to float a loan for commission of ½ per cent., instead of ½ as last time, and to allow interest at ¾ below the bank rate, instead of 1 per cent. as formerly. The Government present decided that the credit of the colony was sufficiently strong without the assistance of the banks, and decided to decline the overtures. They also decided upon an immediate issue, and the raising of the minimum to 102. The interest begins from April last, and the result was that over two millions had been applied for at an average of £102 19s. 8d. The last quotation of Consols was 101¼, so that our Four per Cents. were more valuable, which was not the case at the last loan. During the discussion which followed, Mr. Tomkinson and Mr. Rounsevell raised the point that the Government might eventually lose by not securing the alliance of the banks, as a difficulty might arise with the exchanges. The Treasurer, however, said he had to-day sold £50,000 worth of drafts at par.

MR. W. FORSTER AND THE UNIVERSITY ELECTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—However much I may wonder at your attaching so much importance to a trivial subject in your elaborate notice of to-day of my brief conversation with a few friends and constituents at Gundagai, I must admit that there is a certain consistency in the prominence given to casual references to my own political position and intentions, and to the University election, as contrasted with the wholesale exclusion from your report of all I said upon the land question, which might possibly have proved interesting to the readers, whatever little interest it awakened in the editors or proprietors of the Herald. But in your remarks upon the University election you seem to me to have fallen into so strange an error that I really must beg of you, in the interests of all concerned, to permit me to point out that to characterise that election and its results as the action of a religious faction, and myself as their instrument, is simply an insult to the majority of members of the University by whom I was elected. More especially when you must surely recollect, and as I understand was the case, that it was after I had been proposed, and my election in the first instance regarded almost as a mere matter of form, that the selection was made of Dr. Badham's impromptu "scholar and gentleman" for my opponent, with the apparent purpose of inflicting a slight upon me, in my then absence and obscurity, by excluding me from a position which many of my friends—and, as it afterwards appeared, a majority of the University—thought me entitled to fill. I am glad, however, of the opportunity of expressing my regret for having mentioned the subject, particularly now that I find it excites such painful feelings in the minds of friends of a distinguished personage, and of that form of Protestant ascendancy of which he has declared himself the advocate and champion.

Sydney, July 5. WILLIAM FORSTER.

[We published all of Mr. Forster's speech that we received; and if the report was unfairly curtailed, we regret that our correspondent should have missed the best part of Mr. Forster's remarks. As to the University election, we are glad that Mr. Forster agrees with us that he would have done better not to allude to it as he did; and he should make an effort to believe that those who were in the colony at the time know as much about the transaction as a gentleman who was absent.—Ed. *S. INTERCOLONIAL NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

An inquest was held to-day on the body of a young man named Benjamin Spain, a tailor's cutter, found under very suspicious circumstances in a bedroom of the Yarra Bank Hotel. The evidence proved that deceased had been imbibing freely on Saturday night, and after several drinks in the hotel, was found there the next morning dead. Death was caused by suffocation, but deceased had received a very severe blow on the head. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased died from suffocation, caused by the impaction of a piece of liver in the wind-pipe during the act of vomiting, and that the latter was induced by severe injuries to the head, but no evidence was adduced to show how the injuries were caused. A man named Henry Stephen has been arrested in connection with the affair.

The wife of Mr. Hickman Molesworth, barrister, died very suddenly at her residence, Hawthorn, to-day. The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Mr. Rutledge, of Warrnambool, one of the earliest Victorian settlers, and her death has caused general regret.

The Italian man-of-war the Europa leaves this port on Saturday; and to-night the Marquis de Goyzueta, Consul-General for Italy, entertained the captain and officers at dinner at Menzies' Hotel. There were, in addition, a number of leading citizens present, and all united in wishing Captain Romano bon voyage. The Europa was dispatched by the Italian Government to convey exhibits to the Melbourne Exhibition, and has been in these waters over ten months.

An important discovery of a gold-bearing reef nine feet thick, at a depth of 1700 feet, was made at Stawell lately by means of the diamond-drill. The discovery is expected to effect a revolution in mining.

The Ocean (s.) was admitted to pratique after examination by the health officer. Eighty Chinese have been transhipped to the Arawata (s.) for New Zealand, 72 landed in Melbourne, and upwards of 200 remain on board awaiting an opportunity to return to Sydney. Amongst the Chinese passengers is a merchant, who is a brother of the Chinese Commissioner at San Francisco. He complains very strongly of the circumstances attendant on the detention of the vessel on her voyage, and states he will send a full statement of the treatment received at Sydney to the authorities at Pekin.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

In the Assembly, this evening, the Chief Secretary said it was not the intention of the Government to take steps towards erecting new Parliament Houses this session. The Government intend to establish Circuit Courts at Port Augusta and Gladstone, and give insolvency jurisdiction to certain local courts. Mr. Ward allowed the motion he had on the paper, asserting that members of the Legislature should be entitled to frank for transmission of letters and telegrams forwarded by them on public service, to lapse. Mr. Turner moved a motion in favour of referring disputed returns to the Supreme Court, and declaring plumpers at elections illegal. The debate was adjourned. Mr. Bright's motion, to the effect that it is undesirable to accept tenders for the second section of the Nairne railway, was further discussed, and the debate was adjourned. Mr. Fraser has given notice that the report of the Engineer-in-Chief, tabled yesterday, is not in accordance with the evidence given by him before the Public Works Commission, and should be referred back for an explanation of the discrepancies, and also that the rate on letters and postal cards should be reduced one-half. Mr. Colton has given notice for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the working of the Education Act.

In consequence of the action of the Government in the matter of the Northern Territory mail service, the Netherlands Company have telegraphed to their agents from London stating that they intended to abandon the Australian mail service, and have instructed them to withdraw the tender. This Messrs. Acraman, Main, and Co., the agents, have done.

Messrs. Hardy and Horn intend erecting dairy works at Mitcham, to supply Adelaide dairy produce on a large scale.

Applications for space in the Exhibition are so numerous that it will be necessary to erect large additions. The work is progressing with surprising rapidity.

Several gold-mining companies have been floated here during the last few days.

A meeting of the committee appointed to take steps to obtain the reading of the Bible in State schools was held to-day. The syllabus adopted by the London School Board was read, and a representative committee was appointed to draw up a syllabus based upon that, to be submitted to a future meeting.

The accounts of the lambing operations in the Murchison district are unfavourable, in consequence of the lateness of the rains. In the southern district of the colony the lambing is excellent.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

Mr. Berry waited on his Excellency the Governor at 11 o'clock this morning, and handed in the formal resignation of the Government. His Excellency sent for Sir Bryan O'Loghlen, the mover of the want of confidence resolution on which the Government were defeated, but, so far, no progress has been made with the formation of a new Ministry. The House will meet to-morrow, but it is not at all likely that any definite statement will be made as to the course that Sir Bryan O'Loghlen intends to adopt in the selection of his colleagues.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

A young man named Thomas Downie, carrying on business in Hunter-street as tobacconist, attempted to commit suicide this evening by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver. Downie had been to East Maitland Races to-day, and on returning to his private residence in Railway-street, he went into the closet, from whence a shot was shortly heard. He was found lying on the floor of the closet, bleeding profusely from the mouth. Little hopes are entertained of his recovery. Downie was doing a good business.

GRAFTON, Wednesday.

Thomas Allen, who was convicted of perjury yesterday, has been sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labour, and Archibald Green, for horse-stealing, to two years' hard labour in Grafton gaol. Bawden's case was adjourned last night at 11 o'clock, after counsel's address. It was resumed to-day for the Judge's summing up, which lasted over two hours, and dealt very exhaustively with the case. The jury retired and deliberated one hour, returning a verdict of not guilty. His Honor especially prohibited any manifestation of approval or disapproval of the verdict by the public before they returned, threatening to have any offenders arrested. The audience generally left the court after the verdict, and cheers were given by some when they reached the street. His Honor expressed the hope that the parties would henceforth live amicably, and that there would be no more civil or criminal proceedings of a similar nature. Four more fresh applications have been lodged for leases on the reef at Maria Creek, at the head of the Orara River. Considerable dissatisfaction is felt by previous applicants, who were informed that application must be lodged at Kempsey, in which mining district the locality is placed, although really situated in the electorate of Grafton, from which it is only distant forty miles, with a good road, while Kempsey is eighty miles away. Accounts from all parts of the river state that frosts have very materially damaged the sugar cane.

CENTRAL KEMPSEY, Wednesday.

Two mineral applications were made at Kempsey office for gold leases in the parish of Bagawa, on the Amrara River, county Fitzroy, about 12 miles north-east from Goff's Harbour. Gold is said to have been found, and some jumping has already taken place. Frosts have been very severe, and the continued dry weather is causing considerable anxiety. The waterholes were never so empty at this time of the year. The Macleay Agricultural Society committee are making active efforts to ensure a successful show on the 7th and 8th September.

WEST MAITLAND, Wednesday.

At a public meeting, last night, the sum of £352 was subscribed for a new organ for the Wesleyan Church, West Maitland.

MUDGEE, Wednesday.

Mr. Horatio Thurston, an old resident of Mudgee, died this afternoon. Deceased was a brother of the Colonial Secretary of Fiji. Messrs. Fishburn and Morton, the contractors for the second section of the Mudgee railway, are going to work energetically to carry out the contract. The line is being cleared, and a good many men are being put on at the lower end, between Rylestone and Crown Ridge. The Good Templars celebrated their first anniversary by a tea meeting and concert in the Mechanics' Institute last evening. There was a very large attendance, fully 600 being present.

BOURKE, Wednesday.

There was a large number of visitors at the Brewarrina show to-day from this neighbourhood. The town is very lively, and the weather all that could be desired. Several parties, who returned recently from Mount Browne Diggings, are about starting back owing to the good reports received by them of fresh fields close to Mount Browne. Bread is to be raised next week here to 1s. 8d. the 4 lb. loaf. Only one baker here still.

BERRIMA, Wednesday.

The Berrima Coal Mining Company have completed their tunnel, and have a large number of men engaged constructing the tramway to Berrima. Some concern is felt at the removal of Constable Heagney, an old and much respected officer, to Rookwood; as instead of diminishing the force it should be augmented, as the population at the coal mines only four miles distant, is constantly increasing, and several houses in the town have been burglariously entered within the last fortnight.

ALBURY, Wednesday.

Mr. J. J. Walshe, agent for the Irish Land League, held a meeting at the Exchange Theatre to-night. Mr. James Day, J.P., occupied the chair. Resolutions were carried expressing the sympathy of the meeting with the objects of the League, and a considerable sum of money was subscribed.

BREWARRINA PASTORAL ASSOCIATION.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own correspondent.)

BREWARRINA, Wednesday.

The third annual show of the Brewarrina Pastoral Association was held to-day. Last year's show was held at Bourke, and for the convenience of stockbreeders they alternate between the two above-mentioned places. To-day the weather was all that could be desired, and the association grounds were well patronised by townspeople and visitors. The exhibition, both with regard to the quality of the stock and the numbers of entries, was far in excess of former years. Sheep formed a leading feature in the show, and were of a good description; the majority showed a remarkably dense and strong useful combing wool from the Colleroy and South Australian strain. A finer description of combing wool, however, was exhibited by one or two breeders, noticeably Messrs. W. and T. C. Dickson, of Yarrawin, who have been working from Murrumbidgee district sheep of the Bredbounе blood. Merinos were the only section represented. The exhibits in cattle were not numerous, but were considered to be sufficiently large for the district. Some fine shorthorn cattle commanded a deal of attention, and in the Hereford classes the exhibits were equally as important. The draught sections were represented by three powerful-looking animals, two of which were recent importations from Victoria. First-class light and weight-carrying hacks were exhibited. Close on a dozen thoroughbred brood mares paraded for leading honours. In the blood stallions the numbers were few, although of a creditable description. Three four-in-hand teams competed for first honours, and the prize was awarded to Mr. J. K. Doyle, of Morrabilla; Mr. R. Featherstonhaugh's team being the only other one over which there could be any doubt. A number of sturdy ponies, ridden by boys, caused considerable amusement whilst competing for the prizes. The principal prizetakers in sheep were Messrs. W. and T. C. Dickson, of Yarrawin; Mr. George Hope, of Beemery, who scored the champion prize for the best ram exhibited; Messrs. Sawyers and Wilson, of Bundabulla; Mr. J. K. Doyle, of Morrabilla; and Messrs. Baird and Henderson, of the Cato. In cattle, Messrs. Armstrong and Co. (of Milroy), Messrs. Crosse and Featherstonhaugh, and Mr. Colin M'Kenzie were the principal prizetakers. A pastoral dinner will be held this evening, and a ball takes place to-morrow night.

WHO ARE DISSENTERS?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I suspect that Dr. Beg, in condemning the use made of the word "dissenter" on a late occasion as philologically incorrect, is mistaken; and that for the following reason. It is doubtless true that in Scotland, where a schismatic form of Christianity is established by human laws, members of the Catholic Church are called—and perhaps properly called—dissenters. But in a community where such conditions do not exist, where Christianity in all its forms alike is disowned by the Civil power, the political considerations which determine the use of the word elsewhere do not apply; and the word itself, so standing released from all Scottish associations, seems as to its intrinsic meaning quite allowable here (as in fact it is even on the political ground allowable and of common use in England) as a milder, however uncomely, substitute for "schismatic," where the speaker has occasion to designate those of his brethren (for doubtless all the baptized are brethren) who have left the old foundation on which the Catholic Church is built, and have laid a new foundation of their own. So much for the question of philology.

AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB.

The committee of the A. J. C. met yesterday morning, and unanimously decided to have a day's racing in honour of the visit of the Detached Squadron to our colony. The programme will consist of a Hurdle race of 75 sovs.; a six-furlong Handicap of 100 sovs.; a yearling flutter, of half-a-mile, with a cup value 50 sovs. and 50 sovs. added; a Selling race of 75 sovs.; and the Squadron Handicap of 150 sovs. There will be a sweep of 3 sovs. to each race for starters, and an entrance of 1 sov. The terms are very liberal, and it is hoped that a large number of entrances in response to the invitation of the committee of the A. J. C. will be chronicled. The chairman telegraphed yesterday to Earl Clanwilliam, asking him to name a day, if he could accept the invitation to be present, and received a reply asking him to fix a day. The 16th instant has been wisely chosen, as the Grand National is run on the 23rd. The date selected will enable our Victorian friends to be present, and also allow of our own people running their horses without interference with their Victorian engagements. As will be seen by advertisement, the entrances will be received by the A. J. C. or V. R. C. secretaries on Tuesday, the 12th, handicaps to be declared before 9 p.m. on Thursday, the 14th. The right to the gates and booths will be sold at Mr. George Kiss's bazaar on Wednesday, the 13th, at 12 o'clock. Considering the large number of horses in training at Randwick, Richmond, Maitland, Newcastle, Bathurst, and other provincial towns, the meeting can scarcely be other than a success.

Nothing of a sensational character has taken place in sporting circles of late, but the work done at Randwick in the mornings will soon be of a sufficiently interesting character to need recording. So far there have not been any scratchings for the Hawkesbury Handicap or the Great Metropolitan Stakes; but Result, Lowlander, and Welcome Jack have had their resignations sent in for the Melbourne Cup. Monmouth appears to be most in favour for the A. J. C. Derby and the V. R. C. Derby, but Wheatear is growing firmer in the market for the first-named event, and, while Darebin is easier for the Victorian "blue ribbon," Nautilus is hardening, and he is likely to have a host of supporters. The Hon. J. P. Bell's horses, Warhawk, Cadmus, The Gazer, and one or two others, have arrived from Queensland to complete their preparation for their important spring engagements.

Mr. J. J. Miller has arrived by the City of Sydney, bringing with him the well-bred trotting stallion Contractor, and a grand-looking brood mare called Tilda C. The pair can be interviewed at Garling's Bazaar, Pitt-street.

We learn by telegram from our Newcastle correspondent that the entries for a special day's racing of the Newcastle Jockey Club, on the 14th instant, are very satisfactory.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphed last night that Simpleton had been scratched for the Grand National Steeplechase, and Euclid for the Caulfield and Melbourne Cups.

COURSING.

A committee meeting of the New South Wales Coursing Club was held yesterday afternoon, at No. 3, Wentworth Court. Mr. R. L. Tooth, M.L.A., was voted to the chair, the other members present being Messrs. J. Weir, H. M'Quade, G. Thornton, jun., J. C. Low, and C. Belisario. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. On account of the paucity of nominations for the events to be contested at the forthcoming New Plumpton Meeting, it was decided to postpone the closing of the nominations until the 20th instant. A letter from Mr. W. Lamb, referring to his proposition for a 32-dog stake for outsiders, was read; and, after some discussion, left for consideration by a special meeting to be held on Wednesday next. The secretary paid over the prizes won at the late Woodstock Meeting as follows:—Woodstock Plate: Mr. Lamb (Locket and Linnet), £90 and piece of plate value £30; Mr. W. R. Hall (Handy Girl), £12 10s.; Mr. Tooth (Terror), £12 10s. Puppy Stakes: Mr. Tooth (Teddington), £30; Mr. Lamb (Lollypop), £15; Mr. Bladon (Bargo), £10; Mr. Lamb (Lark), £5; Mr. Bladon (Blossom), £5. Metropolitan Stakes: Mr. Tooth (Temerity), 30 guineas; Mr. Breathour (Latest News), 7 guineas; Mr. W. R. Hall (Handy Girl), 15 guineas; Mr. E. Stephen (Queen of the East), 7 guineas. Beaten Stakes: Mr. A. Town (Money), £10; Mr. Kite (Keith), £4: total, £239 5s. Some desultory discussion took place in reference to the proposed day's coursing at Bathurst during the stay of the Princes and other minor matters, but nothing was decided.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

The usual prize shootings of the Rifle Club in connection with the 1st Regiment Volunteer Infantry were held on the Rifle Range, Paddington, on April 30, May 28, and June 11. A large number of members assembled on each occasion to compete, and notwithstanding the unfavourable state of the weather, the shooting was good. The undermentioned are the prize winners, and their scores are appended. The prizes were presented by Lieutenant-Colonel Baymond, after the parade on Saturday last, the 2nd instant:—

Prize.		Points.	Handicap.	Total.
1	Corporal O'Rourke	97	16	113
2	Private Matheson	111	0	111
3	R. Burns	67	42	109

We learn by telegram from our Melbourne correspondent that at a meeting of the Victorian Rowing Association committee last night, a letter was read from the New South Wales Association to the effect that the committee of the latter reserved the right to alter the intercolonial course to the Nepean or other inland river should the committee anticipate that the race might be interfered with.

SYDNEY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL.

A fortnightly meeting of the Sydney Municipal Council was held at the Town Hall, yesterday, at which the Mayor occupied the chair, and most of the Aldermen were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

Alderman MEEKS presented a petition for the abatement of a nuisance from chimneys in the vicinity of Hay-street.

Alderman O'CONNOR presented one for the extension of a water main in Redfern.

Alderman DAVIES presented one for an improvement in the sewerage system in Cook Ward.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A letter was read from the Hon. J. Frazer stating that, rather than that the designs of the two drinking fountains, for which he had given the Council £500, should be altered he would augment his subscription by £300, which would make up the £800 required for the cost of those structures.

A report was read from the Mayor, stating that, in pursuance of a resolution of the Council, he had accepted the offer of Mr. J. T. Neale to take the unsold balance of the City Debentures, for which tenders were received on the 9th instant, at a premium of £12 15s. 9d.

In connection with this matter the following letter was read:—

"Potts Point, 17th June, 1881.

"Sir,—I have the honour, in reference to the last paragraph of your letter of 10th June instant, notifying acceptance of the 193 debentures at £12 15s. 9d. premium, accepted by letter of same date, to call your Council's attention to my tender for same at £111 15s. 6d., and to the resolution of the Council before the opening of tenders, as appears by the public press, fixing the minimum price at £110, for the purpose of asking that the price of such debentures be reduced to my tender price.

"I think the Council will, upon consideration, see that I have good reason for asking for this reduction, as it may be fairly argued from this resolution, that, as up to the time of opening tenders the Council was prepared to accept £110, the determination of the Council to act contrary to such resolution, by not accepting a tender at a higher price, could only have arisen from information obtained from such tenders. That such a course is unusual and undignified, and not in accordance with usual business transactions, and would create suspicion in the minds of tenderers. And I would respectfully point out the difficulties the Council may hereafter have to contend with if tenderers come to believe that the information they, in good faith, impart by their tenders are taken advantage of to their prejudice.

"JOHN T. NEALE."

It was resolved that the letter be referred to the Finance Committee for their consideration.

A letter from the Paddington Council was read which stated that they had passed a resolution appointing a deputation consisting of themselves and the members for their electorate, to wait on the Minister for Works, and urge upon him the desirableness of conveying the boundary stream sewer to the Old South Head Road. They also solicited the City Council to co-operate with them in the matter.

STORAGE OF POWDER.

Alderman TAYLOR drew attention to the storage of powder and other explosives in such large quantities as to be inimical to the safety of the city; and he produced documents to prove that the arrangement of the storage had been conducted in a manner which seemed to him to amount to carelessness.

The MAYOR replied that he had received a communication from the Government stating that they were making arrangements for the storage of powder in large quantities in a locality sufficiently remote to ensure safety to the city.

Alderman WITHERS drew attention to the necessity for kerbing and guttering in the vicinity of Belle Vue-street, in which the man Rout was afflicted with small-pox, and to the expenditure of money in renewing kerbing and guttering in many places where the operation was unnecessary; and to the necessity for spending it in localities which appeared to be neglected.

QUESTIONS.

The MAYOR, in reply to Alderman Green, said a bill was being prepared to admit of annual appeals against assessments, and for qualifying female ratepayers to vote.

In reply to Alderman BEARE, for Alderman Hordern, his Worship said that a civil action was pending against the late city architect and the contractor for the Town Hall foundations. It was set down for hearing on May 16th, but was deferred until the following sittings.

HEALTH OFFICER'S REPORT.

The following report from the City Health Officer was laid on the table:—

"Town Hall, July, 1881.

"I have the honour to inform you that during the past month small-pox has appeared in different parts of the city and suburbs, and its springing up in localities so wide apart might cause fear that it has taken a firm footing, but almost for a certainty these cases can be traced to have originated from one centre situated in George-street North. The man Rout was working on the opposite side of the street, and the Hughes family, living in the same direction, both exposed to any germs that might have been carried by the west winds; and the Guildford family, residing in Cumberland-street, was exposed to infection through the east winds. The Mongolian case at Waterloo is found to have originated in the north end of the city by the evidence obtained on the discovery of the case at Druitt Town, the latter acknowledging that he had conveyed the sick man to Waterloo, and had escaped from the house on the appearance of the police.

"Every precaution is being used by the inspector of nuisances and his staff to prevent the spreading of small-pox, by cleansing and deodorizing those parts of the city where the disease has shown itself and where suspected cases are reported to be.

"A few cases of measles have occurred in Sydney during the month of June, but I glean that the children affected are new arrivals from New Zealand.

"G. F. DANSEY."

FINANCE.

Alderman DEAN moved,—"That the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of sundry accounts, be adopted."

The motion was agreed to.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG moved,—"That the resolution of Council of 9th June last, ordering that £150 be paid to Mr. Waldron to set back a wall in Elizabeth-street, near Hunter-street, be and the same is hereby rescinded." He maintained that this was only a "try-on," inasmuch as Mr. Waldron had no claim to the property other than that contained in a short lease, and that if the money were voted the owners would not permit the property to be interfered with.

Alderman MOORE said he would vote in favour of the motion because he thought the expenditure would involve a waste of money.

Alderman BUTCHER supported the views of Alderman J. D. Young; but Alderman TAYLOR said the wall was a great encroachment on the street, and the money would not go into Mr. Waldron's pocket, but be used for removing the wall.

Alderman DEAN opposed the resolution, and said that the money would not be spent until the wall was removed. The obstruction was of a very awkward character, now that Elizabeth-street was crowded with traffic. Its removal would be a great public benefit.

Alderman MEEKS said the Council was in possession of documents proving that the owners of the property were opposed to the removal of the wall.

A letter was read by the Town Clerk, which proved to be from Mr. A. H. M'Culloch, M.L.A., and stated that he and the other proprietors could not agree to the proposed removal unless the compensation were paid to them, Mr. Waldron being only a lessee of the property.

The motion was agreed to on division by a majority of one.

SLAUGHTERING IN THE CITY.

Alderman MOORE moved,—"That the resolution of the Council of 23rd June adopting by-laws for granting licenses for slaughtering calves, lambs, and sucking pigs within the city, be, and the same is, hereby rescinded." He said that according to the Directory there were 338 butchers in Sydney, each of whom must have a slaughtering place in his yard. He thought the number of butchers must at present amount to 400, and was in all probability increasing. To supply a staff of officers to inspect their yards would entail an enormous expense, and as no inspector could visit more than 20 yards in a day, they would require at least twenty first-class officers, each with a salary of £200. With their imperfect system of sewerage he would ask if they were to have four hundred pestiferous houses in the city, each of which must prove pernicious to the public health, and would probably breed a pestilence. He thought they should adopt the system which obtained in Belfast and Limerick, two important pork-preserving centres, where pigs were killed on farms, and the carcases taken to markets for sale. They were about to spend £70,000 on cattle saleyards at Homebush, and at these lambs, calves, and pigs might be killed and dressed, after which they could be sent by rail to the Sydney markets, which they would reach in two hours at most. He trusted that the Government would not confirm the by-law which empowered persons to slaughter small stock in the city. If they did so they would have to close the abattoirs, and part with the expensive machinery they had caused to be erected there, for purifying blood and offal, and for cooling meat. All the aldermen were not present when the by-law was passed, but he hoped they would all agree, and, with the Mayor, do their utmost before it was too late to prevent it having the force of law.

Alderman DEAN seconded the motion. He had visited the backslums of the city, and had ascertained that too many nuisances existed in them already. Besides, there were ample facilities at the abattoirs, and other places outside the city, for having small stock slaughtered. The citizens lived too closely together for slaughtering to be permitted in their midst. No matter how much the butchers attempted to keep their slaughter-houses clean gases from these would escape, which would probably breed disease.

Alderman O'CONNOR conceived that Alderman Dean was talking nonsense, and he maintained that the proposed privileges to butchers was agreed to after it had received ample deliberation at the hands of Parliament and the Council. It was said the operation of the by-law would be dangerous to the public health, but in his opinion it would not have this effect; and he must combat the idea that butchers were dirtier in their instincts than other classes, for the records of the police courts indicated that proportionately far more private persons than butchers were punished for keeping dirty premises. The by-law, to his mind, would have the effect of keeping the city cleaner and purer than it used to be; for the slaughter-houses would be under the supervision of authorities who included in the number Dr. Dansey and Mr. Richard Seymour, two of the most exacting health officers they could possess. While the by-law was not in force he believed illicit slaughtering would take place. He knew, after twenty-five years' experience, that 95 per cent. of the calves and lambs consumed in the city had been killed in a surreptitious way. Yet even under these circumstances no disease had broken out. If the by-law were not confirmed an inspector for each butcher's premises would require to be appointed. If it were confirmed, he believed everything would result satisfactorily. Provision was made under a penalty that the premises must be kept clean, although he did not believe that the butchers were inclined to make them repulsive. The abattoirs were intended for the slaughter of large stock, and butchers could not avail themselves of them for killing small stock, for the meat from this being of a delicate character would be deteriorated in quality by the journey thence into the city. In all parts of the world butchers were permitted to kill small animals in towns and cities, and he could not understand why those of Sydney should not be accorded a similar privilege, especially as they were prepared to pay for it.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG opposed the motion, but Alderman DAVIES thought it undesirable to create a number of small slaughtering establishments in the city, because they would be injurious to health, and would require an army of inspectors to look after them.

Alderman HARDIE said he had supported the original motion, and had not changed his views with regard to it.

Alderman CHAPMAN opposed the motion, for he believed the original one constituted a step in the right direction. Hitherto they had not been able to get the slaughter-houses under proper control, and had been railed against in consequence, but now the power was given to them to do so, and in his opinion they should take advantage of it.

Alderman PLAYFAIR opposed the motion, saying that if the by-law were directed against the slaughtering of large stock no injury would accrue to the city. He added that horses and cows were kept in the city, and contributed to the sewers matters quite as offensive as that likely to flow from premises in which the slaughtering of small stock took place.

Aldermen BEARE and WITHERS opposed the motion.

Alderman FOWLER said it had been proved that they could not prevent slaughtering in the city, and to his mind the best thing to do was to give the butchers this privilege, and cause their premises to be properly inspected.

Alderman TAYLOR could not assent to additional labours being imposed upon their health officers. However vigilant their officers might be, however stringent their by-laws, butchers would not hesitate to kill large stock if they were accorded the privilege now proposed to be granted to them. Besides why should butchers be permitted to slaughter in the city, when they were prevented doing so in the suburbs and country towns?

The motion was put, and the Council divided with the following result:—For: Aldermen Davies, Dean, Meeks, Moore, and Taylor; against: Aldermen Beare, Butcher, Carter, Chapman, Fowler, Green, Hardie, Kippax, Lees, O'Connor, Playfair, Wadsworth, Withers, and J. D. Young.

STREET-WATERING RATE.

Alderman HARDIE moved,—"That the resolution of Council of 18th January last, ordering that no watering-street rate be levied for the year 1881, be rescinded." He briefly supported the motion, saying that the cost of watering the streets was a heavy one on the city fund, and that the citizens were able and prepared to sustain it.

Alderman FOWLER opposed the motion, believing that it was quite as reasonable to charge the cost of the watering to the city fund as it was to charge the cost of scavengering. He said that the original motion was passed by a large majority, and that an attempt to rescind it was negatived.

Alderman DAVIES maintained that watering the streets conserved them, and saved the city fund thousands of pounds. The taxes on the citizens were already of a heavy order, and they should hesitate before increasing their weight.

After some remarks from Alderman DEAN, who was understood to say that the citizens had petitioned for the watering of the streets, and had expressed their willingness to pay for the operation,

The motion was put, and the Council divided, with the following result:—For: Aldermen Chapman, Dean, Green, Hardie, Kippax, Taylor, Wadsworth, J. D. Young, Moore, and O'Connor; against, Aldermen Beare, Butcher, Carter, Davies, Fowler, Lees, Playfair, and Withers.

RETAINING WALL IN BROUGHAM-STREET.

Alderman BEARE, for Alderman Hordern, moved,—"That the City Surveyor report to the Improvement Committee the desirability and probable cost of building a retaining wall to continue and form Brougham-street, Woolloomooloo, to Butler's Stairs."

The motion was agreed to.

EXTENSION OF THE SEWER.

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That a deputation of this Council wait upon the Hon. the Minister for Works for the purpose of representing the necessity for further extension than that now intended, of the sewer through the Barcom Glen Estate."

The motion was agreed to.

OXFORD-STREET AND THE TRAMWAY.

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That, as the Government are about completing the laying of the double line of tramway in Oxford-street, this Council would most respectfully suggest the following for their consideration:—That the whole of the street from kerb to kerb should be laid with the best possible material, for the purpose of making that street permanently a good street for vehicular traffic; and that a portion of the southern end of Hyde Park, from Elizabeth-street to its junction with Oxford-street, be taken into Liverpool-street, in order to make that street one hundred feet wide at least." He also moved that the Council form themselves into a deputation to convey the suggestion to the Minister for Works.

The motions were agreed to.

PITCHING YORK LANE.

Alderman PALMER moved,—"That the City Surveyor report and prepare estimates for pitching with blue stone York-lane, from Frazer's stores to Erskine-street."

The motion was agreed to.

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF GAS.

Alderman LEES moved,—"That in consideration of the fact that the Australian Gaslight Company has the free and unrestricted right to, and use of, the streets of the city, as the means for the conveyance of gas to their customers, and that such use very materially affects the cost of maintaining the streets by the Corporation, this Council respectfully submits that the said Gas Company should give this matter their consideration, with a view to a considerable reduction in the present charge for each ordinary public lamp."

The motion was agreed to.

COMPENSATION FOR WITHDRAWAL OF ALIGNMENTS.

Alderman CHAPMAN moved,—"That the sum of £500 be paid upon the removal to the proper alignment of the frontages of buildings Nos. 492, 494, and 496, George-street." He explained that the property belonged to the Macintosh family, and that he believed the proposed compensation was reasonable in amount.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG opposed the motion, saying that the premises were opposite the George-street markets, and were going to be removed to make room for an arcade in the construction of which one of the aldermen was interested. He did not know where the money was to be derived for this kind of thing. Even now they could not get their streets properly kept for want of funds, and they were ridiculed and hauled over the coals in consequence. Besides this, the property offered to the Council belonged to them already.

Alderman CHAPMAN said the property belonged to the present holders, and Alderman Withers, who was one of them, was prepared to return his share of the compensation to the citizens.

Alderman DEAN opposed the motion on the ground that the premises were in a dilapidated condition, and in a few months would require to be taken down.

Alderman GREEN thought the withdrawal of the alignment of the premises would result in the public gaining an advantage.

Alderman WITHERS had avoided discussion on this subject hitherto, but desired now to state that the sum of £750 was offered for the removal of these premises. It would answer his purpose if they were condemned, but he did not want it said that he used his influence in the Council to favour his personal interests at the expense of others. He added that a large revenue would be derivable from the arcade, and that on this account every facility ought to be given for its erection. He did not desire to influence the Council in the matter, but preferred that they should deal with it of their own free will.

Alderman BUTCHER moved,—"That the amount offered by way of compensation be £200." It would be well to remove the premises, for they were an eyesore, and no doubt a large revenue would be derived by the Council from the arcade; but he thought £500 too large a sum to ask for the removal.

Alderman MOORE seconded the amendment.

The amendment was lost; the original motion agreed to by 10 votes to 6.

Alderman PLAYFAIR moved,—"That the sum of £200 be offered to the trustees of the estate of the late Mr. J. S. Hanson, to set back to the proper alignment certain buildings in George-street North."

Alderman MOORE moved an amendment,—"That the amount offered be £100." He did not oppose the idea that the Council ought to obtain possession of the property.

The amendment was lost; the original motion agreed to.

Alderman DAVIES moved,—"That the sum of £250 be paid to the owners of land at the junction of Devonshire and Riley streets, upon their removing the existing fence to the proper building alignment of those streets."

Alderman WITHERS moved,—"That the report of the Finance Committee, recommending that the offer of Mr. F. N. Burt to remove the encroachment at the intersection of Bourke and Foveaux streets, upon payment of the sum of £50, be adopted." In connection with the land in Devonshire-street, it appeared that the City Solicitor and another officer of the Council opposed the proposal to take it over as the Council possessed power to resume it.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG opposed Alderman Withers' motion on the ground that it was unnecessary.

The motions were negatived.

BRIDGE OVER JENKINS-STREET.

It was moved,—"That the Australian Gaslight Company be permitted to construct a bridge over Jenkins-street, from their works to Kent-street, upon sufferance only."

The motion was agreed to.

LAMP IN MOORE-STREET.

Alderman MOORE moved,—"That the lamp in Castlereagh-street, south of that opposite Moore-street, be removed to the corner of Hunter and Little Hunter streets."

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS.

Alderman LEES moved,—"That the undermentioned appointments in the City Architect's and City Building Surveyor's Departments be confirmed, viz.:—Peter Wells, clerk, £200 per annum; J. T. Hennessy, draughtsman, £250 per annum."

The motion was agreed to, the MAYOR explaining that these could not be regarded in the light of new appointments, inasmuch as the officers mentioned were, with the sanction of the Council, appointed on probation some months ago.

LESSEESHIP OF LIME-STREET WHARF.

Alderman TAYLOR moved,—"That Mr. Alfred C. Garrick be accepted as lessee (in conjunction with Mr. Byrnes), of the northern portion of the Lime-street wharf, in place of the late Mr. D. N. Joubert."

The motion was agreed to.

TRANSFER OF ACCOUNTS.

Alderman CHAPMAN moved,—"That the sum of £2215 10s. 5d., being the expenses incurred in providing and laying pipes, locks, &c., for watering the streets with salt water, and now charged to the Water Fund, be transferred to the City Fund."

The motion was agreed to.

WORKS IN DOWLING-STREET.

Alderman KIPPAX moved,—"That the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the re-formation, ballasting, and metalling of Dowling-street, by contract, one-half the cost to be borne by the Paddington Council, be adopted."

The motion was agreed to.

SUBDIVISION OF ELIZABETH BAY ESTATE.

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That the plan and sections submitted by Mr. W. W. Billyard, on behalf of Sir George Macleay, proprietor of the Elizabeth Bay Estate, showing the proposed subdivision and drainage of that property, be and the same are hereby approved by this Council, in terms of the 70th section of the Sydney Corporation Act, 1879, and that the necessary notice be served upon Sir George Macleay for the proper formation and ballasting of the public ways, as shown upon said plan."

The motion was agreed to.

EXTENSION OF WATER MAINS.

Alderman BEARE, for Alderman Hordern, moved,—"That the report of the Water Committee, recommending the extension of the water main along Emily and Agar streets, Enmore, at a cost of £243, and that the report of the Water Committee, recommending that a water main be laid in Chapel and Fitzroy streets, Marrickville, at a cost of £613, be adopted."

The motions were agreed to.

LEVELS AND ALIGNMENTS.

Alderman FOWLER moved,—"That plans and sections now submitted, showing proposed permanent levels of the undermentioned public ways, be adopted, viz.:—William Henry-street, from the railway fence to Wattle-street. Jones-street, from Fig-street in a south-easterly direction to its termination beyond Thomas-street."

Alderman KIPPAX moved,—"That this Council approves of proposed deviations from the requirements of the Act, in the construction, alteration, or additions to buildings belonging to H. Cripps, shed, Elizabeth-street North; the Country Milk Company, shed, Matthew-street; Joseph Marshall, two additional rooms, Barcom-street; Mort and Co., addition to a building, Lackey-street; Dr. Renwick, addition to house, Elizabeth-street; and J. F. Scholer, extension of area."

Alderman FOWLER moved,—"That plans and sections now submitted showing proposed alignments of the undermentioned public ways be adopted, and forwarded to the Governor for approval, namely:—Pyrmont-street, from Union-street to Macarthur-street; Edward-street, from 120 feet from Union-street to high-water mark; Edward-street, from Union-street to Pyrmont-street; Murray-street, from Union-street to Allen-street; Bunn-street, from Murray-street to Pyrmont-street; Miller-street, from Jones-street to Union-street; Gipps-street, from Jones-street to Pyrmont-street; Allen-street, from Wattle-street to railway fence, Darling Harbour; Fig-street, from Blackwattle Creek to railway fence, Darling Harbour; Quarry-street, from Blackwattle Creek to railway fence, Darling Harbour; Macarthur-street, from Blackwattle Creek to Railway fence, Darling Harbour; William Henry-street, from Blackwattle Creek to railway fence, Darling Harbour; Mary Anne-street, from Wattle-street to Quay-street; Thomas-street, from Wattle-street to Ultimo Road; Jones-street, from Thomas-street to the Quarries; Wattle-street, from George-street West to Quarry-street; Crown Road, from Mary Ann-street to Macarthur-street; Crown Road from Macarthur-street to William Henry-street; Crown Road, from William Henry-street to Miller-street; Alma-street West, from Edward-street westwards; Alma-street East, from Edward-street eastwards; Harwood-street, from Bunn-street to Pyrmont Bridge Road; Mount-street, from Gipps-street to Miller-street; Young-street, from Harris-street eastwards; Cross-street, from Young-street to Bowman-street; Little Edward-street, from Edward-lane to Pyrmont Bridge Road; Paternoster-street, from Pyrmont Bridge Road to Union-street; Ada-lane, from Quarry-street to Fig-street; Ada-lane, from Fig-street to Allen-street; Crown-lane, from Mary Ann-street to Macarthur-street; Burlinson-lane, from William Henry-street to Quarry-street; Quarry-lane, from Jones-street to Crown Road; Fig-lane, from Jones-street to Crown Road; Harwood-lane, from Bunn-street to Murray-street; Edward-lane, from Edward-street eastwards; Ultimo-street, from Harris-street to Engine-street; Short-street, from Wattle-street westwards; Alma-lane, from Alma-street West to 176 feet westwards; William-lane, from Crown Road to Jones-street; Henry-lane, from Crown Road to Jones-street."

The motions were agreed to.

TENDERS.

Tenders for forming Foveaux-street, between Crown and Bourke streets, were referred to the City Surveyor for him to report upon.

The tender of M. Griffin, amounting to £468, for kerbing and guttering in Gipps, Bourke, Brisbane, and Phillip Wards for the remainder of the year, was accepted.

The MAYOR then said that the citizens thanked the Aldermen for their services, and the meeting terminated.

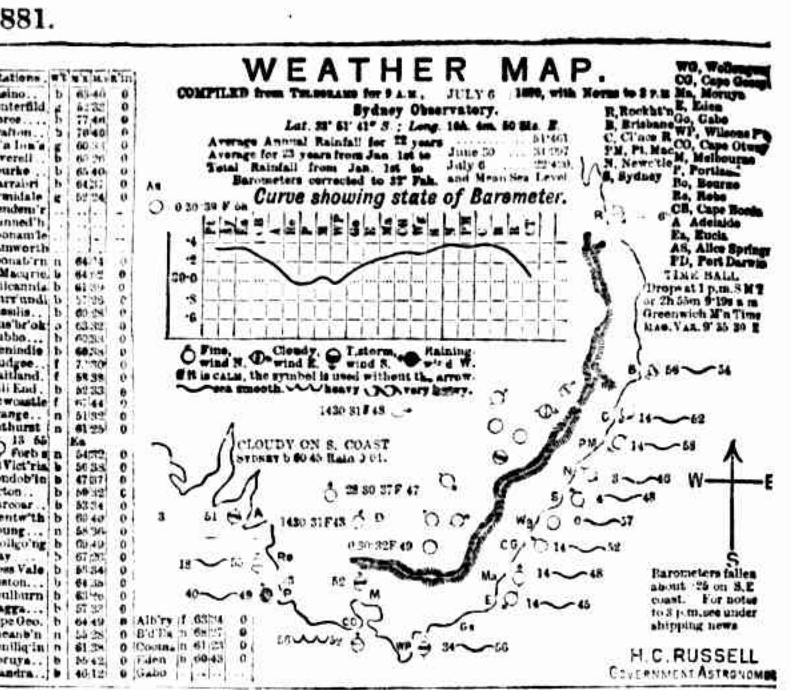

CITY IMPROVEMENT BOARD.

A meeting of the City Improvement Board was held yesterday afternoon, in the Board-room, Castlereagh-street. There was a full attendance of members, and Mr. B. Backhouse presided. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The Board proceeded to inspect some premises in Pitt-street, adjoining Rowe-street, the property of Mr. R. Fitzgerald, brought under their notice by the City Building Surveyor, under the 29th section of the City Improvement Act, as being in a dangerous condition. On their return it was found that no one appeared to represent the owners, lessees, or tenants, of the property referred to by the surveyor. At the request of the Board Mr. Sapsford reiterated the statement made in his report, viz., that the wall was dangerous, and, if wet weather came on, might fall at any moment and kill somebody. The two architects employed by Mr. Fitzgerald confirmed this statement. It was resolved by the Board that an order, drawn up in the usual form, to pull down the wall forthwith be sent to the surveyor at once. In answer to Mr. Senior, the chairman said the effect of this order would be that the wall would be pulled down to-morrow (Thursday), and the owners of it made to pay for the work. The chairman then said that he desired to bring under the notice of the Board the fact that no mention had been made in the Governor's speech of a bill to amend the City Improvement Act. The question for them to consider was what steps they should take to have the attention of the Government directed to the matter. The bill had been brought in by Sir Henry Parkes himself, and read a first time on the 24th June of last year, but had got no farther, having been one of "the slaughtered innocents." Mr. Bailey suggested that they should get a member to ask the Government whether they intended to proceed with the bill; and if no satisfactory answer were given, then set private members to work. The following copy of letter, dated 10th June, 1881, and addressed to the hon. the Colonial Secretary, was read by the secretary:—"Sir,—I have the honour, by direction of the City Improvement Board, to forward, in response to the circular from your office, an estimate of the probable revenue and expenditure of the Board for the ensuing year, based upon the assumption that the bill to amend the City of Sydney Improvement Act will be re-introduced and passed during the forthcoming session, the said estimate being the same as that submitted to you on the 20th May, 1880, together with a copy of the bill recommended by the Board. I am directed to point out that under the provisions of that measure the Board will be self-supporting; and, having their own inspector, will be able to largely extend their sphere of usefulness. It will be known to you that several of the suburban municipalities are petitioning for the extension of the City of Sydney Improvement Act to their municipal districts, and I am desired to call your attention to the impossibility of working it satisfactorily without considerable amendment. I am, &c., C. H. BARLEE, Secretary." The Chairman suggested that as the Government did not apparently intend to take any steps in the matter, the members of the Board should use their best endeavours to influence members of Parliament to support the measure when it was brought forward. Dr. Dixon said there were too many "city fathers" in the House, and the Government could not afford to quarrel with these members. Mr. Bailey said they should not have the same trouble with the suburban municipalities as they had had with the City Council. After some further remarks, it was decided that the secretary be instructed to ascertain whether Mr. Forster would consent to bring the matter before Parliament, and to await his decision. The meeting then terminated.

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY UNION.

The seventh annual meeting was held on Friday evening last, at the Church Society's house, Phillip-street. Rev. E. G. Hodgson, M.A., presided, and amongst those present were Dr. R. M. Sly, Messrs. F. Freehill, M.A.; W. Edmunds, M.A.; Jos. Flynn, B.A.; G. C. Waldron, B.A.; F. Morrish, T. Dibbs, P. Cullen, B.A.; J. L. Mullins, Rev. H. W. Taylor, B.A.

The CHAIRMAN, after reading the advertisement calling the meeting together, asked the hon. secretary (Mr. J. L. Mullins) to read the annual report, which was as follows:—"Your committee, in presenting their seventh annual report of the transactions of the Sydney University Union, desire to congratulate you upon the present satisfactory condition of the Union, and the fair prospects which are in view. During the past academical year a sufficient number of members has been present at the meetings to admit of business being regularly transacted; and the committee are pleased to announce that, for the first time for many years, no recess has been necessary before the June examinations. 2. Since the last annual meeting twenty-two questions have been debated, most of which had a special reference to the interests of the University or of the colony. By the selection of this class of subjects for discussion, an impetus is given to the study of matters social and political which are of paramount importance to colonists generally, and with which men of University culture may fairly be expected to be conversant. 3. Your committee regret that undergraduates have not availed themselves more largely of the advantages offered by the Union. Until April the meetings were held at the University, and yet were unable to attract the support of more than a small number of the undergraduates. Were it not for the efforts of graduates, the condition of the Union would be far less vigorous than it is. 4. The thanks of the Union are due to the Senate for their kindness in allowing to the Union the use of a room at the University. In the hope of securing a larger attendance on Friday evenings it was determined to hold the meetings in town. The Church Society for the Diocese of Sydney at the request of the Union have generously permitted it to make use of their splendid house in Phillip-street. The Union is deeply indebted to the Church Society for this signal mark of favour. 5. Your committee are of opinion that if members would endeavour to secure the attendance of their friends, particularly ladies, at the Union meetings, much good would arise from an enlarged attendance of members and an increased diligence in the preparation of speeches. 6. On account of a wish generally expressed, your committee have decided upon a republication of the rules. They desire, however, that before they take this step, the rules may be made as perfect as possible, in order that doubts from repeated amendments may not be continually presenting themselves. The earnest attention of members is called to this task. 7. In conclusion your committee would impress upon the Union the necessity for each member putting forth his strongest efforts, to enable the Union to fully perform its functions. Debates can only be carried on successfully, when many take part; and the magazine, to be lasting, will require support of no feeble kind. It lies entirely in the power of members to make the Union an exceedingly useful University institution."

Dr. R. M. SLY moved the adoption of the report, and the motion was seconded by Rev. H. W. TAYLOR. Mr. DIBBS moved, and Mr. MONTAGU seconded, as an amendment,—"That the report be read this day six months." The original motion was carried, only two votes being given for the amendment.

The hon. secretary then read the report of the magazine committee, which was adopted on the motion of Mr. G. C. WALDRON, B.A., seconded by Mr. JOSEPH FLYNN, B.A. Two votes were registered in favour of an amendment proposed by Mr. FREEHILL, M.A., and seconded by Mr. DIBBS, that the report be left over till the following Friday.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. The following are the results:—President: Dr. Badham. Vice-presidents: Rev. E. G. Hodgson, M.A.; Messrs. R. M. Sly, LL.D.; G. J. Sly, LL.D.; W. Edmunds, LL.B.; C. A. Farrell, LL.B.; Richard Teece. Magazine Committee: Professor Liversedge, Revs. E. G. Hodgson, M.A., H. W. Taylor, B.A.; Messrs. Beatty, LL.D.; A. P. Backhouse, M.A.; E. Barton, M.A., M.L.A.; W. Edmunds, LL.B.; F. Morrish, J. L. Mullins. General Committee: The president, vice-presidents, hon. secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. P. Cullen, B.A.; Jos. Flynn, B.A.; Piddington, and Barlee. Hon. treasurer, Mr. F. Morrish; hon. secretary, Mr. J. L. Mullins.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Church Society, the hon. treasurer and secretary, and chairman, after which the meeting adjourned.

SYDNEY MUSICAL UNION.

The fifth annual meeting of the Sydney Musical Union was held at the Freemasons' Hall, York-street, on Tuesday night. There was a good attendance, and Mr. R. B. Treacy presided. The business meeting was preceded by a concert of chamber music, the programme embracing string quartettes and trios by members of the Austrian Band as well as contributions by the conductor of the Union, Mr. Sydney Moss, L.C.M. In the fifth annual report, which was presented, it was stated that notwithstanding the many difficulties which had to be overcome, a certain progress, though small, was perceptible. That was to some extent due to the greater interest displayed in the welfare of the society by the performing members, both vocalists and instrumentalists. The orchestral practices, which had been nearly entirely abandoned during the previous season, on account of the indifference shown by the majority of amateur musicians, had been resumed with more vigour and better results of late, owing to the reinforcements which the ranks of the instrumentalists had received from several able amateur players. A perceptible improvement had also to be recorded with regard to the chorus. The average attendance on practice nights throughout the season had been larger than previously, and through the acquisition of new members the parts have been more evenly balanced than was formerly the case. The committee, however, could not help expressing a surprise at the want of a more general interest than was shown by vocalists throughout the city and suburbs in the cultivation and rendering of good music. In this respect Sydney compared very unfavourably with other cities of equal and less magnitude which supported flourishing musical societies, numbering several hundreds of singers in their choruses. On the whole the committee had no reason to be dissatisfied with the results of the last season, and they are hopeful that the society would ultimately rise to the standard which it should occupy. As in the previous seasons the society owed a deep debt of gratitude to its indefatigable and talented conductor. The somewhat heavy debt which had been contracted during the third season through unavoidable circumstances had gradually been reduced and was at present hardly a third of what it was two years ago, without taking into account the considerable increase in the value of the society's property through the acquisition of costly music and two pianos. One of the events of the last season which had materially assisted in giving an impulse to the society was the recognition which its efforts to disseminate a taste for high art in music received from the eminent pianist who recently visited Australia. As a mark of his appreciation of the good work to which the society was devoting itself, Mr. Henry Ketten on the eve of his departure presented the society with a grand concert piano from the celebrated establishment of Pleyel, Wolff, and Co., in Paris, which had been his faithful companion on his Australian tour. The committee fully appreciated that exceptional gift. During the season 38 vocal, 26 instrumental, and five joint practices for choruses and orchestra had been held. The balance-sheet was also presented, and showed that there was a credit balance of £16 15s. 1d. The report and balance-sheet having been adopted, the election of officers and committee for the ensuing year took place, and resulted as follows:—Patron, his Excellency the Right Hon. Lord Augustus Loftus, P.C., G.C.B.; president, the Hon. Sir Alfred Stephen, C.B., K.C.M.G., Lieutenant-Governor; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. A. Boesen, H. Gorman, and W. G. Murray; hon. treasurer, Mr. R. B. Treacy; hon. secretary, Mr. W. Müller; hon. librarian, Mr. H. Crummer; committee—Professor T. T. Gurney, and Messrs. J. S. Huthnance, J. Macdonald, J. Bushelle, W. Morgan, J. Thomson, J. A. Morgan, J. Anderson. Votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. Moss, the honorary conductor, and the chairman.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

The monthly meeting of this society was held last night, in the hall of the Technical College, School of Arts, Mr. Benjamin James in the chair. There was a very good attendance, a splendid collection of plants, and some very fine cut flowers. The following is a list of exhibitors and exhibits:—Mr. G. Masters, amateur, a collection of twelve pot plants, as follows:—Ardesia crenulata, Maranta bicolor, Rhapis flabelliformis, Lycopodium stoloniferum, Asplenium zeylanicum, Asplenium bulbiferum, Abutilon Darwinii, tessalatum, Begonia duchess, Begonia floribunda, Begonia grandis, Primula sinensis, and Microlepia strigosa. Mr. Golding, of Balmain, a fine specimen of Epiphillium Snowii. Messrs. J. and W. Gelding, nurserymen, specimen plants of Phœnix acaulis, Demonorops species, Crotons magnificum, C. longifolium, Latarria borbonica, and the Pinango palm, otherwise known as the betelnut palm, of the Eastern Archipelago. Mr. P. Ford, gardener to the Hon. J. Marks: A very handsome plant of Cypripedium insigne, having some nice spikes of flowers. It was considered that this species was, for beauty and hardiness of character, the best of the genus. Mr. Morriss, gardener to Mr. G. N. Russell: A very fine coleus, Lord Raglan, and a singularly crested fern, apparently a species of niphobolus. The fern presented a curious compound of bifurcation and crested forms. Mr. Paul Laking, gardener to Mr. Henry Prince: A valuable collection of ferns, consisting of specimen plants of Lomaria gibba, Davallia dissecta, Letobrochia mascelenta, and Nephrodium coreaceum. These plants were well grown, and commanded admiration. Mr. Laking also exhibited a collection of cut flowers, consisting of camellias, and the curious scarlet-flowering Astrapœa Wallickii. Mr. H. A. Rosenfeldt, landscape gardener and florist, exhibited a goodly collection of cut flowers consisting of:—Roses, Cloth of Gold, Saffrano, Madame Berard, Queen of Roses, Souvenir de la Malmaison; heliotropes; violets, Czar and Maria Teresa; pansies, mignionette, pelargoniums; double geraniums, Comte de Lamberty, and Madame Thibert; and gaillardias, forget-me-nots, habraphamsus. New seedling: Cestrum Narcissus. Carnation, White Clipper. Abutilon, Golden Age. Antirrhinums, Cape pelargoniums, and dianthus. Mr. Mansell, gardener to Captain Broomfield: Oncidium canendistrianum, and a dwarf-growing and yellow flowering orchid. Mr. Fincke, amateur: Leptopteris, a species from New Zealand. This plant is known from its exceeding beauty and difficulty of cultivation. Mr. R. Albertheon, gardener: Maranta bella, and Pandanus Veitchii, and Davellia, sp. Mr. L. Lasseque, gardener to Mr. C. J. Roberts: A fine collection of cut camellias, including Alba Plena, Chandlerii Henri Faries, Fimbriata, Alba Jubily, and others of the leading kinds. Mr. Francis B. Davidson, amateur: Abutilon selloranum variegatum, Euphorbia Jacquina flora, in flower. After the exhibitors had described their plants, a paper on "Carpet, Ribbon, and Flower Bedding," was read by Mr. Gelding. Its author, Mr. Duff, of the Botanic Gardens, commenced by saying that carpet, ribbon, and flower bedding is as yet in its infancy in these colonies, few attempts having been made to carry them out systematically; and, judging from his experience of the climate in the different Australian colonies, he was led to believe that they can never hope to compete with English and continental gardeners in this branch of gardening. If four summers are dry and hot we cannot get that uniformity of growth and brilliancy of colour, either in flowers or foliage, which can always be relied on in European gardens, and which are so essential to produce the effect intended. And, again, if we are favoured with moist warm summers, the growth in one month would nearly equal that of six months in England, which is their entire bedding season. Consequently the growth of our plants being so luxuriant we cannot keep them so neat, nor obtain the quantity or quality of flowers which gardeners at home secure, with comparatively little trouble to themselves. He then went on to say that many of the most showy and best plants used for bedding in Europe do not thrive here—the hot winds often destroying them in a day. The expense of bedding was considerable, and the greatest care and attention besides would have to be bestowed upon the work to achieve the results desired. He then dealt with the details of the subject, and at considerable length dwelt on the flowers most suitable for bedding, and the method of arranging them. Mr. Seymour, in moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Duff for the paper, said the society was very greatly indebted to him, as the paper evidenced great labour, thought, and undoubtedly a vast amount of knowledge. Mr. Mortimer seconded the motion, saying that the paper was one of the best ever read before the society. Some discussion followed, after which the motion was put and carried by acclamation. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

THE RANDWICK ASYLUM.

The usual Board meeting of the directors of the Randwick Asylum for Destitute Children was held yesterday, at the Town Hall, when there were present the Rev. Canon Stephen (president), Mr. G. F. Wise (vice-president), Very Rev. Dean Sheridan, Messrs. E. T. Penfold, J. Watkins, S. Hebblewhite, J. Graham, R. Hills, I. J. Josephson, H. Hicks, U. W. Carpenter, C. Renwick, J. Davies, J. Hardie, D. A. Thomas (superintendent), and J. Coulter (secretary). The minutes of the last meeting and of the House Committee were read and confirmed. Mr. Josephson objected to new subscribers being allowed to take children as apprentices, when old subscribers who had been waiting were not able to get them, and gave notice of motion of an instruction to the House Committee upon the subject. Mr. Penfold moved the adoption of the following recommendation from the House Committee:—"That in consequence of the many complaints, arising out of apprenticing boys to farming and country pursuits, in future preference be given to article boys to mechanical trades, in country towns if possible." The motion was seconded by Mr. Wise, and after some discussion was negatived. The honorary treasurer (Mr. J. Graham) read the following statement of finances:—General account: Dr.—May 31, 1881, to balance Australian Joint Stock Bank, £1658 13s. 1d.; Government on account maintenance and subscriptions, £886 0s. 7d.; interest on debentures, £24 19s. 2d.; subscriptions, maintenance, and apprentice fees, £231 0s. 4d.; cheques not presented, £60 8s. 4d.: total, £2861 1s. 6d. Cr.—May 31, by cheques not presented, £49 16s.; abstract of salaries, wages, and tradesmen's accounts, £545 0s. 4d.; miscellaneous expenses, £129 1s. 4d.: balance Australian Joint Stock Bank, £2137 3s. 10d.; total, £2861 1s. 6d. Apprentice fund: Dr.—May 30, to balance, £3610 5s. 4d.; wages paid by employers, £217 8s. 10d.: total, £3827 14s. 2d. Cr.—By wages paid to children who have completed their apprenticeship, £157 8s. 6d.; balance in Savings Bank, £3670 5s. 8d.: total, £3827 14s. 2d. The Government indebtedness to the society was shown at £1452 19s. 3d. The accounts were passed, and the proceedings termininated.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

LONDON, JUNE 3.

The condition of Ireland is becoming daily more serious, and rioting of a most formidable character has taken place throughout the past week. Fresh baronies have been proclaimed, and numerous fresh arrests made. The military are concentrating at various points for the preservation of order and the prevention of outrage. Several serious encounters have taken place between the troops and the people. At Clonmel the announcement of a sale of farms was followed by an encounter, and almost an engagment resulted between a strongly armed and organized mob, and a squadron of Hussars, who charged and re-charged the rioters. The latter held their ground tenaciously, and seriously wounded several soldiers and constabulary. No evicting can now be carried out unless the law officers are supported by a strong military force. Agrarian murders are increasing, and bailiffs, process-servers, care-takers, and anybody, in fact, obnoxious to the Land League daily fall victims to attacks of the most savage character. At Scariff, county Clare, a murderous affray took place on 1st June in connection with the service of writs of ejectment on the defaulting tenants. Hundreds of persons armed with pitchforks and other weapons obstructed the officers, and finally fired several shots at the constabulary, who charged several times with their bayonets. Subsequently several volleys were fired at the police by concealed assailants. The police returned the fire, killing one and wounding several rioters, twenty of whom, armed with rifles, were arrested. At New Pallas, county Limerick, a number of Land Leaguers, who have actively resisted the police in carrying out evictions, obtained possession of an old castle, and destroyed the approaches to it. A flying column of engineers, artillery, and infantry left Dublin last night with orders to demand the surrender of the castle, and attack the castle if refused possession. The county people are armed to an alarming extent. The soldiers and constabulary, who daily receive serious, if not fatal, injuries from the rioters, are growing exasperated at not being allowed to fire: and if the provocation continues it is feared the soldiery may break out of the barracks and avenge themselves on the populace. There is too much reason to fear that the cupidity of the agrarian classes in Ireland, too, is excited to a degree that the Land League would be powerless to restrain them, even if it gave evidence of any sincere desire to exercise a moderating influence. The resistance among the Irish members under the dominion of the Parnellite faction, however, is growing stronger. The breach has been widened by a scene in the House of Commons this week, when Mr. Mitchell Henry drew attention to a breach of privilege by the publication in the Freeman's Journal of a letter written by Mr. Egan, secretary of the Land League, residing in Paris, denouncing all Irishmen who did not follow Parnell's lead as place hunters, a curse, and cowards, &c. O'Connor and Power severely condemned the Parnell policy, and produced evidence of prominent Land Leaguers having solicited posts from the English Government. In view of the terrorism and incendiarism now carried on in Ireland, the total suppression of the Land League is being strongly urged by many London papers. Mr. Gladstone, however, in replying to questions last night, said that the Right Hon. W. E. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, had not advised such a measure.

The Land Bill makes very slow progress in committee. The debate on the first clause is still proceeding, and is likely to continue for several days yet. 1500 to 2000 amendments to the bill are on the notice paper. It appears impossible that the bill will get through the Commons until nearly the end of the session, thus leaving no time for its adequate discussion in the House of Lords. Moreover, if the Irish disorders continue to be obstacles in the way, the measure will be enormously increased.

Lord Salisbury, in a speech at a Conservative meeting on May 30th, denied that the Lords were acting under his guidance in having resolved to reject the measure. It is believed that the Lords approved of the principles for giving security to tenants for improvements; but it was not expected that they would approve of the clause excluding compensation to landlords for the value of property taken from them, and the right of free sale. Lord Salisbury, in the same speech, bitterly criticised the general policy of the Government in Ireland, Afghanistan, and the Transvaal.

Sir Stafford Northcote delivered a speech on June 1 at Manchester, in which he spoke very hopefully of the Conservative prospects, owing to the blunders or criminal weakness of the present Government at home and abroad.

The Convention settling the conditions of the transfer of Thessaly to Greece was signed at Constantinople on May 24. It stipulates that Greece shall be in possession of the ceded territory six months hence. The Opposition papers at Athens describe the Convention as a national disgrace; but it is believed that Greece will quietly take what is offered her for the present, leaving the question of Epirus for a further day.

Mr. Goschen has returned to London, and the Earl of Dufferin leaves London in a few days to replace him at Constantinople. His principal mission will be the regulation of Turkish finance, and the solution of the Armenian difficulty.

The titles of King and Queen of Roumania have been assumed by Prince Charles and his consort.

Prince Milan is about to visit Vienna, Berlin, and St. Petersburg, to sound the Northern Powers upon his wish in being about to assume the kingly title.

The general situation in South-eastern Europe is reassuring. The recent coup d'etat of Prince Alexander has produced no noteworthy opposition in Bulgaria, though the Prince may have a severe struggle with the Liberal party before he receives the assent of the Legislature to seven years' autocratic power, which he demands.

Russia has formally annexed Tekke, in the Turcoman country, and General Scobeloff brought with him to St. Petersburg several Tekke chiefs to do homage to the Czar.

Gambetta recently returned to Paris after a visit to his native town of Cahors, where he was received with the most extraordinary enthusiasm. His journey to and from Cahors was one long triumphant progress. The speeches of M. Gambetta are very moderate, and he is evidently inspired by a sense of the approaching responsibilities of office. The visit more than ever demonstrated M. Gambetta's omnipotence in France, and certainly that he must succeed M. Grevy as President.

The Scrutin de Liste voted by the French Chamber, and now before the Senate, provides for the rearrangement of constituencies, and the redistribution of seats, putting the department in place of the arrondissement.

BOMBAY, JUNE 17.

Later particulars state that the fight between the Ameer's and Ayoub's troops at Girishk resulted in the defeat of Ayoub, whose loss amounted to fifty, the Ameer only having two men wounded. Hassim Kepan, Ayoub's General, was not represented at the fight, and is reported as being still in the neighbourhood with some cavalry. Ayoub and the Ameer still remain at Herat and Cabul respectively, but it is expected they will both shortly take the field in person. In the meantime, beyond a few unimportant skirmishes between the contending parties all remains quiet.

There is no news of importance in India to report since the last telegram.

Dr. Nedley, physician to the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, writes:—" Of all the preparations of that valuable remedial agent, Cod Liver Oil, the most uniformly pure, the most palatable, and the most easily retained by the stomach, is Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Oil. I have habitually prescribed Dr. de Jongh's Oil in cases of pulmonary consumption, with very beneficial results, and I can confidently recommend it as the most efficacious kind." CAPE SUMMARY.

CAPE TOWN, JUNE 18.

The Government railway scheme has passed through both Houses of Parliament without amendment: and, having completed this measure, the House will probably be prorogued next week. A bill to establish a permanent infantry force of 500 men has been passed by the Assembly and sent to the Council.

The Royal Commission are still sitting at Pretoria, and a strong belief is prevalent that the result of their deliberation will be to recommend the entire surrender of the country to the Boers.

The Basutos have commenced to pay their fine, and the colonial forces are being disbanded.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

The Bench on the Criminal side of the Court was composed yesterday of the Police Magistrate, with Messrs. Renwick, Booth, Coss, and Fowler; and on the Summons side, Messrs. Guy, Henderson, and Vaughan were the sitting justices.

Robert Ranson was fined 20s., or, in default of payment, to be imprisoned seven days, on conviction of having in Druitt-street, on Tuesday afternoon, offended against public decency.

Eliza Hoke, charged with stealing from the person, pleaded not guilty. It appeared that she and a man named James Wallace were in Crealey's public-house, Liverpool-street, and Wallace, being the worse for liquor, fell asleep, and on awaking missed both the prisoner and a purse in which he had a brass ring and about 35s. in silver. A young lady in the house saw prisoner take a purse from Wallace's pocket, and gave information, on which she was apprehended, and in her possession was found a purse which prosecutor identified as that of which he had been robbed. She elected, when asked, to be summarily tried, and was adjudged to be guilty. To be imprisoned three months.

Charley Chow, a Chinese, was charged with being on the premises of Hudson, Brothers, Redfern, with intent to commit a felony. Some time after midnight of Tuesday the watchman heard a noise in one of the shops, and, on searching, found the prisoner lying on a carriage frame, and gave him into custody. To be imprisoned and kept to hard labour three months.

In the Summons court, Alfred Mason, convicted on his own confession of having thrown a missile within the enclosure of the Glebe Abattoirs, contrary to the by-laws, was fined 20s. John Stone and Owen Mulheson were each fined 20s. for allowing cattle, their property, to stray and be at large in the borough of Alexandria. In Cameron v. O'Connor, a proceeding under the Tenants Act, complainant obtained a seven days' warrant to put him in possession of the premises in question.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Mr. Marsh, P.M., assisted by Messrs. Hunt and V. Brown, Js.P., sat at the Water Police Court yesterday.

Clara Myles, a well-known character, was sent to prison for three months on the charge of being a suspected person frequenting King-street, with intent to commit a felony. Constable Sproule conducted the case, and, though the charge was rather indefinite, evidence was given that the woman was in the habit of haunting King-street, and of accosting drunken men, so that her removal will rather benefit the public than otherwise.

William Shannon pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a bed, valued 20s., the property of John Dunn, and was ordered to pay 20s., with the option of a week in gaol.

In the Summons Court Messrs. Brown, Senior, and Stanley presided, and dealt with a number of cases of but little interest.

Edwin Cocks was charged with riotous behaviour in the Domain on Sunday afternoon. The defendant was preaching in the Domain, and a lot of larrikins and others set upon him, and he called them rascals, &c., and used abusive language. The defendant while in court, wore a board on which the following words were printed: "But we know that the law is good if a man use it lawfully. Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane.—1 Timothy, i., 8, 9." Defendant was fined 40s., with the alternative of seven weeks' imprisonment.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Messrs. A. Barden and W. Kendall, Js.P., occupied the bench yesterday.

William Read, 70 years old, who was found destitute in Campbell-street, was recommended to be sent to the Benevolent Asylum at Liverpool.

A man was fined 5s. for being drunk.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In this day's Herald appears a letter from Mr. Sheridan, taking exception to the proceedings of the Licensing Bench, on the 29th ultimo, for refusing the extension of Mr. Stratton's license, and basing his complaint "that it has been granted something like 200 times for cricket matches and other sports," but admitting that this season is "the first time it has been used for football matches."

That, Sir, is the reason the Bench pursued the course they did: they felt that, although it might be unobjectionable to allow spirituous liquors to be supplied at an all-day match of cricket in the summer months, the case is altered, when the game of football only occupies a part of the winter afternoon. I would ask those who have watched a football match whether the game is not exciting enough without the addition of spirituous liquors? When the lads arrive on the ground, there is nothing to prevent them from indulging in a drink, if they desire it; the same at the close of the game. I consider it the duty of magistrates to do all in their power to keep temptation out of the way of the rising generation.

I would draw Mr. Sheridan's attention to the fact that this ground is public property, vested in trustees, and it was never contemplated that part of the revenue to keep the ground in order was to be by the sale of intoxicating drinks.

When the Austrian Band was in Sydney, permission was given by the Colonial Secretary for the use of the Garden Palace, the performances taking place in the afternoon and evening. Application was made by one of the most respectable hotelkeepers in Sydney for the extension of his license to the same. The Bench (Messrs. Robinson, Stanley, and Penfold) inquired if the Colonial Secretary had given his permission, and the application was postponed until the following Tuesday. On the case being called on, on that day, Inspector Johnston reported that the Colonial Secretary had given his peremptory refusal. Now, Sir, I would ask, if so high an authority objected to the granting of the sale of intoxicating drinks to adults in a Government building, were not the bench of magistrates equally justified in refusing the same under similar circumstances? To show my fellow-citizens how this matter can be abused, I will give a few facts that have come under my own personal knowledge. In the early part of March Mr. Stratton made application to the Bench for the extension of his license (Mr. Reading and myself being the only magistrates present) for the whole of March, Sundays excepted. I asked him his reasons for making such an unusual application. He replied it had been granted him for the whole of the previous month. We refused him his request except for the day previous, and the three days of the intercolonial match. A few weeks since Mr. Stratton again made application for the Sydney Grammar School sports. His application was refused, and I have since received a letter from Mr. Weigall expressing the pleasure he felt at the decision of the Bench that day. Mr. Sheridan's fears are groundless as to a license not being granted on the occasion of important cricket matches. It has always been granted without a demur from the Bench, and if the lessee is likely to sustain a loss from his license being withheld for football matches, let the trustees meet him in a liberal spirit in the matter by remitting a portion of his rent. Yours, &c.,

E. T. PENFOLD.

It sets the sluggish liver in motion, very slightly acts on the bowels, giving a sense of health and comfort within 24 hours. It is the safest medicine. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy, natural condition of the skin. MUMBLEBONE STATION.
Bligh District.
For Positive UNRESERVED SALE.
To close partnership accounts.
PITT, SON, and BADGERY have received instructions from Messrs. Kater and Davidson to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 19th July, at 12 o'clock,
Their well-known fattening run, MUMBLEBONE, of an estimated area of 90,000 acres, together with about
40,000 sheep
1,000 cattle
5,300 acres freehold and secured land.
This splendid property, which is situate about 20 miles below Warren, has a frontage of about 16½ miles to the Macquarie River, and about the same to both sides of the Crooked Creek.
It is substantially fenced into 9 large and 5 small paddocks, and there is a comfortable homestead, good new woolshed for 24 shearers, &c.
The country, which consists wholly of myall and saltbush plains, is quite equal to anything in the district; and during the past summer upwards of 50,000 sheep have been depasturing on it, this number having since been reduced by the sale of some 6000 or 7000 fat wethers and 3000 cull ewes, the latter of which were sold at 9s 9d.
The sheep consist of about 12,200 lambing ewes (none over 6 years), 6000 fattening wethers, the rest from 2 to 6-tooth, and all station bred. They have always been carefully culled, and compare favourably with most Riverina flocks.
Shearing will commence early in August, so that the purchaser will have an immediate return from the clip, and will also have some 10,000 lambs given in.
The run is put into the market solely on account of the present partnership having expired, and the determination of the principal partner to take a trip to the old country.
Horses will have to be taken at a valuation, there being several valuable brood mares, entires, &c.; but stores, belongings, &c., will be given in.
The terms will be one third cash, and the balance at one, two, and three years, with interest payable at 6 per cent.
The Auctioneers deem it superfluous to say anything in praise of the property, but will be happy to show intending purchasers plans, particulars of stock, &c., on application to them.
